Session 1927 — 127th of the General Assembly

Vol. 10. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1927. No. 1.

SENATE

JANUARY 4, 1927, 12 O'CLOCK M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 2, 1926, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock noon.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward J. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, as we gather once again in this hall of legislation, we pause at the very opening of the session to invoke Thy divine blessing upon us. Since we last met here the Angel of Death has been very busy, and some whose faces were familiar in this place have passed on into the great Beyond. Do Thou abundantly comfort the bereaved kindred. Many homes have been invaded by sickness and other trouble, and even now one long and great in our midst is lying within the shadow of eternity. Do Thou graciously minister unto him, both in body and in soul, and minister unto the anxious watchers at his bedside. May we ever realize that amid all the varied experiences of life, its joys and its sorrows, its sunshine and shadow, divine aid is never withheld.

May Thine abundant blessing rest upon these Senators, those of former days and the Senators-elect. As they enter upon the arduous duties that lie before them, grant them divine wisdom and high sincerity of heart, that they may seek Thine honor and glory and the welfare of our great Commonwealth. Bless our Governor, our Lieutenant-Governor and all the officers of state. Direct us as a people in ways of pleasantness and paths of peace. We ask it for the Redeemer's sake. Amen.

The oath of office was accordingly administered.

The PRESIDENT. It gives me great pleasure to present to the Senate your newly elected President pro tempore for the session of 1927, the Honorable Samuel W. Salus.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE.

MR. SALUS. I want at this time to express to the Members of the Senate my sincere appreciation of the great honor you have conferred upon me. It is certainly a signal honor for any man to be elected presiding officer in a Commonwealth composed of ten millions of people. It is a great responsibility. It is a responsibility not only to your presiding officer but a great responsibility to all you members of the Senate.

You are here in this very august body to represent the varied interests of the people of one of the greatest Commonwealths in the world. Their interests are varied, and it is your duty to look after those varied interests to the best of your ability.

I, as your presiding officer, will endeavor to the best of my ability to do my share at all times, being willing and anxious to assist every Senator in every detail.

In being elected President of this Senate, so far as I am personally concerned, all party lines are removed; Democrats and Republicans will receive the same consideration. We are here in one united body to do what we can for the benefit of all the people of this great Commonwealth regardless of their political faith, their religion, their creed or their nationality. We are, and ought to be, All for One and One for All. The lines of demarcation that represent the various counties of this great Commonwealth in our deliberations should be removed; there should be no blocs; there should be no combination of the rural members against the urban members. We ought to be one body of men working harmoniously together for the benefit of all mankind in the Commonwealth.

There never was a better opportunity in the history of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the members of the Senate to get together and do better, more harmonious and more glorious work for this great Commonwealth. We are starting a new era with a new Governor, who is parctical in every way. He knows the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania from the Schuykill River on the one side to Lake Erie on the other. He is familiar with every county. He is familiar with every need of every county; and I know he is extremely anxious that Pennsylvania shall benefit by his administration. And in order that Pennsylvania may benefit by his administration it is our duty to do everything that we can, at all times, to help his administration.

We will have a Governor who has no personal ax to grind. We will have a Governor who has no personal ambition. We will have a Governor who will not use his power for the purpose of advocating his own cause, either political or otherwise. I am convinced that we will have a Governor who has but one thought in his mind, and that is, of the great benefits he can do for this great Commonwealth.

We have in our power the opportunity to do wonderful and beneficial work for all the people in this Commonwealth; and when the term of this Senate and the succeeding Senate is passed and our Governor goes out of office I am satisfied that we will have made new, great, wonderful and progressive history for the greatest Commonwealth of the greatest government in all the world. I thank you.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President and Fellow Senators, a number of inquiries have been made of me as to the condition of health of a former member of this body—and a former Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In order that the rumor may be set at rest as to that distinguished gentleman to whom I refer, the Honorable William Cameron Sproul, we are glad to say he has not passed at this time to the Great Beyond. He has been quite seriously ill, and I have just been in touch with his personal physician, who states that he has passed the crisis. He has had an attack of pneumonia and is quite weak, but it is expected he will have a full recovery.

With your consent, I think it would be well that through the Secretary of the Senate we might convey a message of cheer to that distinguished patient and sincerely wish him a speedy recovery.

Almighty God our heavenly Father, Thou Director and Guide and Governor of all things, at the commencement of this session of the Legislature, at the beginning of a new year, and at the commencement of a new administration, we pray Thee that Thy blessing may be upon us all; that we may be guided in everything that we do; that we may seek to do that which is right and just and honorable. Be Thou with those here in Thy presence who come for their first session of the Legislature. Guide them and direct them. Be today with those who are sick and who are in sorrow, in the homes of the members of this House, and of the Senate, and we pray Thee that Thou wouldst especially be in the home of the former Governor of this great Commonwealth who is now sick and so far as we can see nearing the boundaries of eternal day. Bless us all and guide us all, and keep us all so that we all may meet life and meet death unafraid. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

MEMBER ABSENT.

Bentley,

The CHIEF CLERK. Two hundred and seven members-elect answered to their names, a quorum is present. The House is now ready to proceed to business.

JUDGE TO ADMINISTER OATH OF OFFICE.

Mr. Hall, a member-elect, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, learned in the Law, be requested to administer the oath required to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO MEMBERS-ELECT.

The CHIEF CLERK. The members-elect will present themselves before the bar of the House, where the oath of office, as required by law, will be administered to them by the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The oath of office was then administered to all the members-elect except Miss Bentley.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER.

Mr. LUCAS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article 2, Section 9, of the Constitution the House now proceed to the election of a Speaker and that the clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House of the 1927 session, it was my privilege and pleasure to present last evening the Republican caucus choice for the speakership of the Session of 1927. It now becomes my privilege to present him as the Republican caucus choice for this session, and there is very little to add to what was said concerning him last night. In the course of my remarks I stated that the greatest tribute that can be paid to any man is the esteem and the affection of his neighbors and friends and the fact that the forty-one members of the Philadelphia delegation made him their unanimous choice speaks well for him in his aspiration for office. The speaker of the 1925 session and the extraordinary session of 1926 is known to the older members of the House. They have known him to be one of pleasing personality, whose address enables each and every one of us to feel that personal contact, that warmth and that friendship, and it is that personal contact which is an indication of service. Each and every one of us representing our respective legislative districts desire to fulfill our obligations in giving our constituency legislation that is wholesome, constructive and productive of the best interests of our constituency, and with the speaker that we will have, we will have that co-operation, and we will make it possible to co-operate with the Governor-elect of Pennsylvania in reflecting great credit to the Republican party and making the great Keystone State a greater state in the future than it has been in the past.

The speaker's life is ideal; he is a man of warmth, vision and poise. It is a great honor for me at this particular time to present to this body the name of Thomas Bluett as the Republican candidate for speaker for the session of 1927.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Chairman, and members of the House, I rise at this time to second the nomination just made by our good friend from Pittsburgh, Joseph Marcus, nominating the Honorable Thomas Bluett for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the greatest Commonwealth in this nation. In seconding the nomination I do so reminding you once more that Thomas Bluett is a product of the Kensington mills in his early boyhood days. Later in his life he matriculated as a student in Temple College in the law Department, graduating with the highest honors, and is now a reputable and esteemed member of the bar of our great city of Philadelphia.

During his term at college he came in contact with another young chap by the name of George E. Walsh. They formed a strong regard for each other and upon the completion of their studies formed a partnership. That partnership has extended on down through the years since their graduation, and where do we find those two young men today? One is the reputable Speaker of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth, while his partner, his chum in college, represents that great portion of Philadelphia known as West Philadelphia, comprising three wards, with a population of nearly 400,000. He represents them in the halls of Congress at Washington. I would say of Thomas Bluett that he is a self-made man; his honesty, his integrity are unqualified. That is recognized not only by the Republicans, but also by the Democratic members of this House. He is methodical in the manner in which he transacts his business, and above all this and above all else, the greatest boon in his life is his character, and his morals are as clean as the shining sun. Thomas Bluett will represent the people of this Commonwealth numbering nearly ten millions of people; the responsibilities upon his shoulders are heavy, but he will perform that duty during the next two years just as he has done it before. In seconding his nomination I feel that in the end before we leave this Hall he will have been elected by acclimation.

Mr. SCHOENER. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, before nominating a candidate for speaker, I wish to state that the minority party endorses the remarks made by the men who just nominated the Honorable Thomas Bluett. We of the minority party feel that we have had a very fair man for the last two sessions. I have never met a man, I must say, with a bigger heart, because he seems to be able to make himself the personal friend of every man, regardless of his party affiliations.

However, in order to uphold the traditions of the past and the time-honored custom, it becomes necessary for us also to nominate a man for the speakership. For one hundred and twenty-four years in the county of Berks, there was a time-honored custom that no man could have more than two terms in the State Legislature. That time-honored custom of one hundred and twenty-four years was broken in 1914 by this honorable gentleman who sits to my right. For three sessions I have been sitting beside, and I must say also that I have never met a man who has had keener judgment and a better insight into the political problems of the State. A certain historian of Pennsylvania, a historian who happens to be a member of the majority party, who says this in an extract in his history: "He has fearlessly assailed wrongs wherever found, whether in his own party or out of it. His honesty, sincerity and ability have never been questioned, although he has been in public life for more than thirty years." I must say that I have never known of his betraying the trust of his constituents, because they have returned him continually. I feel that his integrity, his honesty, fearlessness and fair dealing will be carried out should he be elected to the speakership of this House. I take great pleasure in presenting the name of the Honorable Wilson B. Sarig, of Berks County for the speakership.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Chairman, I take great pleasure in seconding the nomination of the Honorable Wilson B. Sarig, of Berks, for the Democratic candidate for speaker.

Mr. HART. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, the nomination and election of Thomas Bluett to be continued as speaker of this House will form an epoch in the history of the State of Pennsylvania. We all can recall with a great deal of pride the magnanimous attitude of this man toward the members of this House, and his desire to guard and protect the interests of the people of the State of Pennsylvania during his term as speaker during the regular session and the extraordinary session. I am safe in saying that I can use the phrase of a very distinguished orator of Pennsylvania in saying that Thomas Bluett has a heart in proportion like an ox and in tenderness like a woman. This man has made the lives of these people here such that they can come into this Hall and perform their duties and then go home without a single regret. It seems to me that in the election of Thomas Bluett we are building back to Pennsylvania the halcyon days of statesmanship which made Pennsylvania foremost in the ranks of the statesman of the country. I am sure that we can vision Thomas Bluett in the future and will be safe in placing his name among the statesmen, side by side, with John Dalzell and Knox of Pittsburgh, Thaddeus Stevens and Brosius of Lancaster; William D. Kelly and Samuel J. Randall of Philadelphia; Wayne McVeigh and Eberhardt of Chester County, and then we can say that the members of this House have performed their duties well in sending this man up the ladder, and when eventually he becomes that statesman of national fame, it will rebound to the credit of the men and women here today who are re-electing him Speaker of this House.

The CHIEF CLERK. Are there any other nominations?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the nominations do now close.

The motion was seconded and agreed to.

I will appoint the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heffernan, and the lady from Allegheny, Miss Grimes, to escort the newly elected Speaker to the Chair.

The CHIEF CLERK. Members of the House, I have the honor to present to you, the Speaker of the House for the Session of 1927, Honorable Thomas Bluett.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER.

The oath of office was then administered to Honorable Thomas Bluett, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives, by the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

ADDRESS OF THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. Members of the House of Representatives, you have again elected me your Speaker. I wish to thank each and every one of you for this mark of confidence. That confidence I shall cherish in the days that are ahead of us, and I shall strive so to act that when the Session closes you may feel that your confidence has not been misplaced.

We are about to enter upon an important field of labor. During the next few months we shall be called upon to legislate for nearly ten millions of people. Few states have more difficult problems to solve than we do. In order to discharge our duties we need the highest wisdom. We must be able to visualize our State and its people as a whole. We need a large vision if we would serve in our highest capacity. Our millions of people are widely diversified. They represent nearly every racial group in the world. They are composed of all classes of labor and professional life. Great cities, lonely farms, plains and mountains—farmers, mechanics, miners, and the vast toiling masses of the great industrial centers make our problems most difficult.

You will have submitted to you by the Governor of the State, by individual members of this Legislature, and by outside agencies, many suggestions as to legislation—legislation relating to taxation, economy in the various departments, prison reform, election laws, prohibition, conservation of our natural resources, and suggestions relating to economic regulation and control of many of the activities of life. All of these problems are major problems. They can only be wisely solved by considering them from the major viewpoint. Those of us who come from the large cities must realize that the rural districts have problems peculiarly their own. Those of us who come from those rural districts must also realize that the densely populated cities, with their mixed population and racial groups have their own peculiar problems. Therefore, in our deliberations, let us avoid anything like arraying section against section, class against class. The careful observer of the trend of affairs in our country today cannot but feel concerned over the tendency to divide on purely sectional lines. In many parts of our country the alignment is country against city. This should not be so anywhere, especially in our great State of Pennsylvania. Country and city are indispensable to each other.

Philadelphia, the metropolis of the Eastern part of our State, Pittsburgh of the Western part as well as the other cities are necessary to the vast and equally important rural and country communities. The cities pay a large part of our taxation. All should receive fair and equitable consideration in the spending and distribution of State funds and in the passage of legislation. But whatever other result, when I come to lay down the gavel at the end of this Session, I hope there will be a mutual feeling of understanding and respect and that the tendency to array one section or class against another will have entirely vanished.

It is not my purpose to outline to you my views on any of these major projects. Under our scheme of government of this State, I do not consider that to be the province or duty of your Speaker. I shall endeavor to preside over your deliberations with such fairness and impartiality that every member of this House will feel that he has had such an opportunity to express his views on any subject as to have made him a real living force in our great Legislative body.

It is probable that this will be a short session of the Legislature, but whether the time of the Session be long or short, there should not be hasty or unwise action. It should be our aim to give careful consideration to all measures proposed, and that persons or interests affected should have opoprtunity to present their reasons and objections. I am sure this will be done, and that the members will do their full duty to their constituents, their fellow members and to the entire State, and that the results will be to the credit of our great Commonwealth and her people.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

GOVERNOR PINCHOT. Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I come before you to make a final accounting to the General Assembly, and through it to the people of Pennsylvania.

Four years ago a new order was established in the government of this Commonwealth. Before that time the government machinery was administered chiefly for the service of political insiders, while the people got little more than the crumbs which fell from the rich men's table.

The new order was based on this simple principle: The public good comes first. It held that the business of public servants is to conduct the government solely in the interest of the whole people, without regard to personal, financial, or political interests. In other words, to spend the taxpayers money, and handle the public business, for the service of the people, and for that alone.

This new order was no vague generality. On the contrary, it was concrete and specific. It had a definite written program, which had been announced (and circulated by millions of copies) in the primary election of 1922, repeated in the general election, and re-affirmed in my inaugural address and again in my opening message to the Legislature of 1925. It was as follows:

If elected Governor I will use the full power of my office:

To drive all saloons out of the State.

To prevent and punish bootlegging.

To maintain and secure good laws for the protection of working children, women and men.

To safeguard the industries of Pennsylvania and promote the prosperity of the State.

To advance the interests of the farmers, who feed us all.

To give our children the best schools in America.

To check centralization and give more home rule to cities, counties, townships, and school districts.

To maintain the direct primary and protect the rights of women voters.

To meet the just needs of those who served in the World War.

To revise and equalize taxes, establish a budget system, and reorganize the State Government on a business basis.

To keep the expenses of the State within its income.

To get a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent.

As Governor I will appoint no one to public office whom I know to be unfit. I will move to Harrisburg and be on the job, and I will earnestly strive to give due consideration and a Roosevelt square deal to every man, woman and child in the State.

This platform from first to last has been and still is the pledge and sailing chart of this Administration. Either this pledge has been kept or it has not. It it has not, this Administration is to be condemned. If it has, then we have kept faith with the people. It is for the people to say, and it is upon their verdict that this Administration will finally be judged.

PLEDGES ENACTED INTO LAW.

In the effort to carry out this platform the following laws (among others) were enacted by the General Assembly and signed by the Governor, during the three legislative sessions of my term:

IN THE SESSION OF 1923.

SNYDER ACT—Abolishing the licensed saloon and providing for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

TRI-STATE DELAWARE RIVER COMMISSION ACT—Authorizing a commission to negotiate a Compact with New York and New Jersey to regulate the use of the waters of the Delaware River and its tributaries.

"BLUE SKY" ACT—Prohibiting the sale of fraudulent securities in Pennsylvania and creating a Bureau of Securities to administer the Act.

IN THE SESSION OF 1925.

THE GENERAL POOR RELIEF ACT—Codifying the laws relating to the relief of the poor in all counties except of the first and second classes.

AN ACT ABOLISHING ALL SPECIAL FUNDS for professional examining boards, requiring their fees to be paid into the State Treasury, and placing all of them on an appropriation basis.

AN ACT APPROPRIATING one million dollars to the Department of Welfare to enable it to arrange for the care and treatment of indigent sick in hospitals not owned by the State.

AN ACT APPROPRIATING MONEY AND CREATING A COMMISSION to acquire a new site for the eastern state penitentiary.

AN ACT GIVING JURIES the right to impose either life imprisonment or the death sentence as the penalty for murder in the first degree.

AN ACT EXTENDING THE BENEFITS OF THE SCHOOL TEACHERS' RETIREMENT FUND to teachers who had retired from the State's service prior to the passage of the School Teachers' Retirement Act.

AN ACT ACQUIRING THE LOCUST MOUNTAIN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL as a State hospital.

THE UNIFORM CONDITIONAL SALES ACT.

ACTS PERMITTING THE PURCHASE OF LANDS FOR GROWING FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS and permitting inmates of State penal institutions to work in State Forests.

IN THE EXTRAORDINARY SESSION OF 1926

ALCOHOL ACT—extending the State's power for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

ACT PERMITTING THE COLLECTION OF TOLLS for the use of the Delaware River Bridge.

AN ACT TO ASSIST THE AUDITOR GENERAL in the collection of the gasoline tax.

ADOPTION for the first time of a Resolution proposing a voting machine amendment to the Constitution.

MEASURES WHICH FAILED

The most important measures advocated by the Governor which the Legislature refused to pass during this Administration were: in 1923, the appropriation of $250,000 for law enforcement; in 1925, acts extending the State's power to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, the appropriation of $500,000 for law enforcement, the Giant Power Bills, and the ratification of the Delaware River Tri-State Treaty; in 1926, the twelve measures for clean elections recommended by the Commission of Seventy-Six; the Giant Power bills; the ratification of the Delaware River Tri-State Treaty; the Regulation of the Anthracite coal industry; the Banking Code, and a number of separate bills to give to the Banking Department much needed additional powers.

As a partial offset it should be noted that the school people and the Administration together defeated the attempt to cut $7,000,000 from the appropriations for the common school system in 1925.

POLITICS IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE

When this Administration came into office the public service of Pennsylvania was rotten with politics. It was badly organized, and filled with incompetents appointed for political reasons. Many of them were doing political work for political insiders at the taxpayers expense, and little or nothing else. This amounts to embezzlement of public funds for private purposes. It is the regular practice of the gang.

The financial system of the Commonwealth was a mess. There was no budget, no uniform system of accounts, no form of fiscal control except that of the Auditor General and State Treasurer, and that did not prevent the waste of public money. A system of self-appropriation by Boards and Departments through deficiencies was costing the taxpayers millions of dollars a year; and to cap it all the State owed some $32,000,000 for current expenses which it was unable to pay.

For this mess gang control was responsible. I was pledged to clean it up. To do so required the cooperation of all the Departments responsible to the Governor. Summaries of their work will be found in the appendix to this message. I can touch only a few of their principal achievements.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND FINANCE

In the spring of 1922, immediately after my nomination, I asked eighteen highly qualified men and women to serve as a Citizens' Committee on the Finances of Pennsylvania under the chairmanship of Doctor Clyde L. King, in order to make a thorough study of the Commonwealth's financial methods and condition. This study was the basis of our present financial policy. I desire here to make public and most grateful acknowledgment to the members of the committee, to all those who assisted in its work, and especially to Doctor King, who continued as Secretary of the Commonwealth and Budget Officer the work he had so admirably directed as a volunteer.

The influence of Dr. King's highly trained, fertile, and generous mind has been strongly felt not only within his own Department of State and Finance, but as a constructive and stimulating force in every part of the State Service.

The work of the Citizens' Committee showed that when this Administration came into office the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania owed, for current expenses, a heavy debt which it could not pay for lack of funds. At first this debt appeared to be $29,000,000, but further study of the jumbled finances of the State showed that it was even larger. To that extent the Commonwealth was insolvent.

This Administration assumed actual fiscal control on June 1, 1923, when the present Budget went into effect. On that date the Commonwealth owed a known debt of nearly $32,000,000 in unexpended balances of General Fund appropriations. Other items discovered later raised the total to more than $32,000,000.

Part of this debt dated back as far as 1909, but over $21,000,000 of it came directly from the preceding Administration. It had piled up not because of the poverty of the Commonwealth, but because of long continued repudiation of sound financial principles for political advantage.

To meet this liability of over $32,000,000 there was in the General Fund on June 1, 1923, an actual cash balance of $31,002.39. A million of debt for each thousand of cash. On the same date bills due and approved for payment to the amount of $9,020,468.08 were lying in the State Treasury unpaid for want of money.

During the calendar year 1922 this excess of bills over cash to pay them at the end of each month averaged $13,483,630, with an average cash balance to pay them of $452,059.

The honor as well as the credit of Pennsylvania were involved in paying off this debt, and paying it off at the earliest practicable moment. Moreover, the taxpayers ought not be penalized, if that could be avoided, for the misdoing of politicians. Therefore we undertook to pay off the debt, not by additional taxation, but by rigid economy, and to pay it off in two years.

The first budget in the history of Pennsylvania, which I had the honor to submit to the Legislature a few days after taking office, accordingly provided for a reduction of 26½ per cent in the comparable current expenses of the Departments responsible to the Governor.

As necessary parts of cleaning up the mess, a complete system of uniform accounts was established, self-appropriation through deficiencies was eliminated, and a plan of fiscal control was introduced which, for the first time, gave the Governor complete and current knowledge at all times of the actual and proposed expenditures of the Departments and the financial condition of the State.

At the end of the first two fiscal years of this Administration the debt was wiped out. More than $26,000,000 had actually been paid, and instead of a deficit there was a surplus in the Treasury much more than sufficient to pay off the rest.

During these two fiscal years the reduction in running expenses of the Departments responsible to the Governor enabled us to pay off the debt at the rate of over $45,000 for every working day, and that with no reduction but on the contrary a notable increase in the amount of service rendered.

When the present fiscal biennium closes and the last appropriation year of this Administration comes to an end, it is estimated that there will be a free and unencumbered cash balance in the General Fund of about $6,700,000, with all unpaid obligations fully provided for.

Moreover, for the past two years the State Treasurer has been able to pay every bill of the Commonwealth the moment it was presented. During the calendar year 1925 there was in the General Fund at the end of each month an average cash balance of $4,598,748.09 in excess of all bills due. During the first eleven months of 1926 the average excess of cash over current bills payable was more than $9,500,000. These figures speak for themselves.

A summary of this debt and its payment appears in the appendix (Department of State and Finance). The individual items and the dates upon which they were paid off are given in the biennial report of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. Persons who might otherwise be deceived by the repeated efforts of enemies to question or deny the reduction of current expenses and the payment of the debt are referred to this document.

Talk about reducing the running expenses of any government, State or National, is common enough, but the thing itself is rarely done. It is worth remembering that in this second biennium of the present Administration the ordinary running expenses of the State Government are less than they were four years ago.

I have not learned that any corresponding cut was ever made in the current expenses of any other State or nation. The reduction of war expenses is a wholly different matter. Furthermore, to provide for contingencies and prevent deficits, the appropriations were so allotted before expenditure began that each Department would spend less than half of its appropriation in the first year of each fiscal biennium.

Under this Administration Pennsylvania is expending only five per cent of her income for the regular running expenses of the State Government. The rest of the $250,000,000.00 which the Commonwealth is collecting and spending during the present fiscal biennium is returned to the counties in the form of good roads, subsidies for common schools and for hospitals, protection of fish and game, and a thousand other things which the counties would be obliged to pay for themselves if the State did not help them out. Ninety-five per cent of our total income goes straight back to the people.

The personnel work done under the direction of the Secretary of the Commonwealth has been vitally important. Not only did he make, through men working under his supervision, the classification of employees for submission to the Executive Board, but the work necessary to enforce the classification, to build up and sustain the morale of the workers, and to look after their safety and comfort, and especially the safety and comfort of the women, has all been done under his direction.

Under his direction also the Coal and Iron Police, which was filled four years ago with thugs and criminals exercising the police power of the State by commission from the Governor, was thoroughly investigated and purged. The practice of issuing commissions to men of whom nothing but their alleged names was known was stopped, with a revolutionary change in the character of private policemen in this state.

This very brief outline shows how new tax burdens to pay off old debts were avoided, how the debt was paid off, and how an effective modern system of finance and fiscal control under the Governor was established. Thus it was demonstrated that by cutting out politics and political deadheads the business of the State could be better conducted for far less money. The Budget, effective fiscal control, and intelligent fiscal planning did the work.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

Under George W. Woodruff, Attorney General, the Department of Justice has carried on an amount and variety and quality of work during these four years that has never before been approached.

The greatest single achievement of the Department during this time was the substitution of a broad for a narrow view of the law. The view most common among lawyers, and most often followed in public life, is that public officials, to perform their full duty, need and should do nothing that is not specifically required of them by the law. This means that they merely follow the letter of the law by vote, and that the public interest is correspondingly neglected.

The point of view adopted and enforced by the Department of Justice during this Administration is the same as that adopted and enforced by President Roosevelt upon the recommendation of the present Attorney General of Pennsylvania, then an Assistant Attorney General of the United States. It is that a public official is bound to do everything that the welfare of the people demands and that can be accomplished without violation of existing law.

This policy has made the Department of Justice during these four years the active and intelligent defender of the public rights. It was followed in all the endlessly varied and complicated questions which have come before the Department, and especially in advising the officers, boards, commissions, and departments of the State Government to do whatever the public interest required wherever the law did not stand in the way.

The vigorous application of this policy necessarily brought the Department of Justice into active conflict with many interests antagonistic to the public good. It is a matter of great pride to me that in the very numerous, complicated, and important cases at law in which the Department of Justice has been concerned, the vast majority have been decided in accordance with its contentions.

This is, however, nothing new. The present Attorney General, while in the service of the Federal Government, initiated important conservation litigation in nine cases involving new interpretations of law. All nine were carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. All nine were decided in his favor, and all but one by unanimous vote.

The Administrative Code, prepared in the Department of Justice by Deputy Attorney General Schnader, has brought high and well deserved credit to the man who drew it. In its influence upon the Government of the Commonwealth it is the most important single enactment in many years. It reconstructs the State Government throughout. It assembles under eighteen departments and three independent commissions more than one hundred independent spending agencies which previously were responsible to no one but the Governor. In general, it substitutes for the previous haphazard and unworkable frame of the State Government a compact, efficient, and workable business machine.

The constitutionality of the Code when attacked was defended by the Department through Mr. Schnader and has been affirmed by the Supreme Court of the State. At the same time the practical character of the reorganization effected under the Code has been proved by four years of sound, productive, and economical business administration.

Much time and effort were consumed during the first part of this Administration in defeating the wholly unjustified attempts of the elective fiscal officers to make themselves independent of the official opinions of the Attorney General, in spite of the clear provisions of the Act of June 7, 1915, and their re-enactment in the Administrative Code. These efforts were finally and completely defeated, as they deserved to be, by decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. If they had succeeded, the effect would have been to permit the fiscal officers, who have no proper means of doing so, to interpret the law to suit themselves, and would have made any effective business administration of the State Government wholly impossible.

The enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, under the generous and patriotic gift of the women of the W. C. T. U., which took the place of the money refused by the Legislatures of 1923 and 1925, has been a most important part of the Department's work. Further comment upon it will be found below.

Much time and attention were given to the interpretation and defense of the Securities Act, under which the Securities Bureau of the Banking Department in a single year excluded $500,000,000.00 of questionable securities from the State of Pennsylvania.

The reorganization of the State Government made necessary much more than the usual attention to the legal needs of the several Departments, while membership on numerous boards and commissions, including the Giant Power Board and the Alcohol Permit Board, has taken very much of the Attorney General's time.

Other matters which deserve mention are the legal questions concerned with the Delaware River Bridge; the enforcement of the Anthracite Coal Tax, during which proceedings the position of the Department was twice sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States; and the immense amount of litigation due to the efforts to escape taxation under the provisions of our numerous tax laws.

An achievement of the Department which will have far-reaching effects upon the future of the State was the formulation of a completely new water power policy for the State. The laws into which this policy was crystallized were drawn by Deputy Attorney General Philip P. Wells, who, with the Attorney General himself, had the largest hand in the formulation of the national water power policy now embodied in the Federal Power Act of 1920. Thanks to these laws, Pennsylvania is now not only on a par with the Federal Government in the protection of the people's right in this great natural resource, but in some respects ahead of it.

The new policy has powerfully stimulated development. Two large water power projects have been approved, one of which is in operation and the other under construction. For the first time in the history of the State permits for dams for industrial use now contain provisions safeguarding the right of the public to use the waters for fishing and other recreation.

The Department has collected $7,250,000 in fees and taxes during the four years, or about 15 times as much as its total cost to the taxpayers. This amount would have been very largely increased if the Legislature had not refused to add to the appropriation of the Department as requested, although it knew that such addition would result in the collection of additional funds many times greater in amount than the additional appropriation.

Instead of employing special attorneys at heavy cost, the Department has carried through the litigation before it, whenever possible, with its regular force, thus saving the taxpayers many hundreds of thousands of dollars. It has pursued this policy with success up to the Supreme Courts of Pennsylvania and of the United States, and has thus proved its wisdom as well as its economy.

I desire to express my personal judgment that the opinions of the present Attorney General stand wholly by themselves in the benefits they have secured for the taxpayers of Pennsylvania and for the people generally.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

In January, 1923, Pennsylvania combined, as did no other State in the Union, the three great sources of illegal drink—whiskey, alcohol, and beer.

More whiskey was stored in the Pittsburgh U. S. Revenue District than in any whole State except Kentucky; scores of crooked alcohol concerns were running in Philadelphia under Federal permit and were diverting into bootleg channels millions of gallons of poison drink each year; and 156 breweries were pouring out illegal high-powered beer all over the State.

The Federal Service for enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment, with its entire control over the sources of illegal drink, had broken down not only disgracefully but dishonestly. Its principal officials in Pennsylvania, having been selected for their known character, were under indictment for crime. United States District Attorneys, especially in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, had encouraged the big liquor law violators by their inaction and worse, and had dispelled all fear of punishment under Federal law.

The dominant political machine in Pennsylvania was and had long been intimately tied up with the liquor interests, which also controlled many local machines, and notably those of the two great cities. Habitual violators of the Eighteenth Amendment with political pull were entirely confident of being let alone, and an unworkable and insincere State statute gave official protection to law breakers by providing for licensed saloons to sell beverages with only the legal content of alcohol.

In consequence saloons running openly everywhere under State license were defiant of all law, and boldly sold whiskey and high-powered beer to any customer.

Most important of all, there was no State enforcement law under which to deal with liquor law violators or compel respect for the Constitution of the United States.

Pennsylvania was wet and wide open when I came into office in January, 1923.

In my inaugural address I made this definite statement:

This Administration will be dry. The Executive Mansion will be dry, and the personal practice of the Governor and his family will continue to be dry, in conformity to the spirit and letter of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The law is the law. It is the foundation of order, safety, and prosperity, and of the Commonwealth itself. Every State official takes oath, and is in honor bound, to obey it. I shall expect and demand from every public servant appointed by me, or subject to removal by me, from the highest to the lowest, entire and ungrudging obedience to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Law. They are part of the law of the land.

This pledge has been kept, and I have appointed no man or woman who had not before appointment given me their word to support, defend, and personally obey the Constitution of the United States, including the Eighteenth Amendment, and all laws, State and National, enacted to give it effect.

Thus all doubt as to whether or not this Administration proposed to stand by the Constitution of the United States was removed at the start.

The Armstrong-Snyder Act, and Administration enforcement measure, passed after hard fighting, and with a margin of but two votes in the House, was signed by the Governor on March 27, 1923. It brought the law of Pennsylvania in harmony with Federal enforcement law and it abolished the licensed saloon.

THE W. C. T. U.

Other Administration bills dealing with breweries and alcohol distilleries were defeated by the same Legislature which also refused my request for $250,000 to enforce the Federal legislation and the Armstrong-Snyder Law. Thereupon the women of the W. C. T. U., under the active militant leadership of Mrs. George, their President, offered to provide what the Legislature had refused, and to raise the funds needed to enforce the law and compel respect for the Constitution. What they thus offered they have in fact performed.

I am not aware of a more public-spirited, self-sacrificing contribution to the public welfare by any body of men and women than this. The members of the W. C. T. U. are for the most part in moderate circumstances, and the raising of nearly $150,000 was a great achievement.

Furthermore, the W. C. T. U. has stood forward throughout my term as the one State wide dry organization of whose position there was never any doubt. It was always ready to fight for its principles with courage and common sense, and it never hesitated because of the personal or official position of those who oppossed it. There are no better fighters for righteousness than Mrs. George and the women of the W. C. T. U.

THE SALOON.

The campaign carried on during this Administration with the help and the fund of the W. C. T. U.; with the indefatigable and indispensable assistance of the State Police; with the co-operation of law enforcing officials in many, but by no means in all, parts of the State; and with the devoted and untiring guidance and help of Major William Burnet Wright, Jr., special counsel in charge of this work, has produced the following concrete results.

The licensed saloon has been driven from Pennsylvania. The most effective method ever employed against law breaking saloons, breweries, and distilleries has been adapted to Pennsylvania conditions and finally fought through the Supreme Court and upheld by it. This is the method of padlocking under injuction. It is now available as a proved efficacious remedy to every law enforcing loyal official in Pennsylvania.

We have used this method in twelve of the wettest counties. Proceedings for 228 injunctions were brought, 228 temporary injunctions were secured, and final orders wiping out the saloons were obtained in 177 of the 187 cases tried to date. Evidence was also secured or papers prepared in 180 other injuction proceedings against lawless saloons, and 100 contempt proceedings were initiated, or a grand total of over 500 cases.

Every city of over 3,000 population, and every small community where the saloon was a problem—over—230 in all—, was carefully surveyed, and more than 6,000 separate visits were made to law breaking saloons. The information thus secured was effectively used. A recent check-up shows the following results:

For this check-up thirty-three cities and towns were selected to include the worst parts of the State. In these the locations of 665 saloons which our inspectors had visited and seen openly breaking the law in 1923 and revisited in the autumn of 1926. Four hundred and three of them, or nearly two-thirds, were closed and gone.

Today the drinking places that still remain are not open saloons but furtive speakeasies, and in nearly every case they are suspicious of strangers and afraid of being caught. Even the speakeasy as a serious problem does not exist in forty-two counties covering more than two-thirds of the area of the State.

BREWERIES.

The breweries presented a most serious problem. This was partly because of the expensive spy system they maintained and because of the difficulty of proving anything against a brewery which had the right under its permit to make strong beer and then remove the excess alcohol to make near-beer. But the main trouble was with the Federal Government, which insisted, against my vigorous protest, in continuing to issue permits to breweries we had caught violating the law. In some cases we caught them seven times before we could get them put out of business.

But in spite of these and other troubles, out of the 156 breweries that were operating in January, 1923, ninety-five, or nearly two-thirds, are gone. Of the sixty-one still running in the State today, fifty-one are operating under Federal permit.

ALCOHOL DISTILLERIES.

The trouble with the alcohol men was even worse. The Federal Government continued to issue permits, and to restore permits, to distillers, denaturers, and users of alcohol who were known, some by the reports of its own agents, and some by convictions in court, to be engaged in violations of the law. At first the exposure of these facts had little effect. But repetition finally wore down in part the refusal of the Federal authorities to enforce the law, and over forty illegal alcohol concerns, which in 1923 were diverting over one million gallons a year into bootleg channels, have been put out of business.

In the session of 1925 all Administration law enforcement measures were defeated, including the appropriation of funds to carry out the law. But in the special session of 1926 the Alcohol Bill was passed.

This is the most important enforcement measure yet secured in Pennsylvania. It creates the Alcohol Permit Board, which has the right to permit or not to permit alcohol distilleries to operate, together with the right of complete inspection at any time. It has also the same powers over breweries, as well as the right to the fullest information about the business of each concern.

The operations of the Alcohol Board in revoking the permits of law breaking breweries have had the most healthful effect in restraining these sources of illegal drink. If continued and properly supported, the Alcohol Board will do more to make Pennsylvania dry than any other one agency, not even excepting the State Police.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

When this Administration came into office important advances had already been made by the Department of Public Instruction. The value of these advances had, however, been reduced by three very serious evils.

The first was its policy of coercing instead of co-operating with the local school authorities; which led to deep resentment and killed the chance of mutual helpfulness.

The second was the inability of the Department, because of lack of cash in the Treasury, to pay their subsidies to the school districts on time; which forced the local school authorities to borrow money, induced them to economize at the cost of the children, and led to general discouragement.

The third was the ill-balanced and ineffective organization of the Department; which led to serious short-comings in carrying out its work.

The policy of coercion has been abandoned and co-operation has taken its place. This was the late Doctor Becht's great contribution as Superintendent of Public Instruction to the progress of education in Pennsylvania, and it has been continued unbroken by Doctor Haas, his successor. As a result local discontent has disappeared and the public school system of Pennsylvania has become a truly co-operative enterprise, without sacrifice of standards.

At present our public school system brings together in harmonious relations the Department of Public Instruction, the county and district superintendents, local boards of school directors, various community organizations interested in education, teachers and parents, and all the other State Departments whose work touches education in any way. As never before, local school districts have been given and have taken their share of responsibility in making the public schools of Pennsylvania fully equal to the best. Thus my pledge of home rule in education has been carried out.

On August 1, 1925, February 1, 1926, and August 1, 1926, every payment due to a school district from the State was made on the dot because the strictest economy had saved the money necessary to pay them. The effect in creating good feeling among the local school authorities was remarkable, to say nothing of the immense advantage to the children through the better business management of the schools.

The Department has been run with economy. The reduction of 12-½ per cent in the cost of administration is very noteworthy, in view of the additional responsibility and the increase of 50 per cent in the funds to be administered. During the four years over one hundred million dollars have been handled on a sound pay-as-you-go basis. Deficits have been wiped out.

In 1921-23, $43,500,000 was available for education, of which $3,000,000 went for old debts; in 1923-25, $62,000,000 was available, of which $6,000,000 went for old debts; and in 1925-27 more than $67,000,000 was available, and only $140,000 went for old debts. These increases are due to the Edmonds Law, passed before this Administration came into office. But we have found the money to pay them.

In 1923, by amendments to the Edmonds Act made at my suggestion, the State's contribution to the cost of teachers' salaries in the poorer districts was increased from 50 to 75 per cent.

For the first time in the history of Pennsylvania, education and care for handicapped children, including blind children, is now adequately supplied. Educational opportunities for immigrants, illiterates, and other adults have been extended and greatly strengthened, while vocational schools and departments have increased in number and efficiency.

As a result of a thorough co-operative study of the needs of rural schools, Pennsylvania is well on the way to the progressive development of a program of rural education that will make the country schools of this Commonwealth second to none.

During this Administration the Department of Public Instruction has bees recognized throughout under the Administrative Code. Its organization now follows accurately the work it has to do, and there are no more of the twilight zones of responsibility which are so fatal to good administrative work. In this respect the Department is fully on its feet.

The reorganization of the Department brought together for the first time all the various agencies in the State that have to do with public education. Because of it, the Department has been able to develop and maintain a unified State-wide program with thoroughly satisfactory fiscal and professional standards, and with admirable results.

Moreover, a very careful study of the schools of the State, including graded schools, high schools, rural schools, and vocational schools was made by committess consisting of the best equipped specialists it was possible to secure both in Pennsylvania and outside. Taken as a whole, their recommendations were most valuable, and they were given full consideration and great weight.

Our school buildings and their equipment are better and in better condition than ever before, with the resultant wholesome effect upon the health, attendance, and progress of the children.

The quality and competence of school teachers has greatly increased, as shown by higher standards of certification, increased enrollment in summer schools for teachers, and increased attendance at the State Normal Schools.

THE GANG AND THE SCHOOLS.

Four years ago many of the State Normal School were in deplorable condition. That question was vigorously taken up, and the schools have grown in number of students, in condition, and in the efficiency with which they do their work. Nevertheless they are still far from able to meet the annual demand for trained teachers, to the serious injury of the common schools. This condition is due to the refusal of the Legislature to make adequate appropriations for Normal Schools over a series of years.

In 1925 an unspeakable attempt was made by gang politicians in House and Senate to cut $7,000,000 from the appropriations of the common school system of Pennsylvania, including a million and a half from the Normal Schools. The money was available, and it was most urgently needed. Therefore the only possible motive for this conscienceless attack on the school children of Pennsylvania was politics.

The Administration joined with the school people of the Commonwealth in a protest so vigorous that the political leaders weakened before it, and the whole sum, with the exception of $750,000 for the Normal Schools, was eventually restored. One effect of this indefensible attack on the school system of Pennsylvania was to strengthen immeasurably the good relations between local school authorities and the Department of Public Instruction.

In conclusion, the Department of Public Instruction has rendered its capable and constructive service to the educational agencies of the State with a sympathy and wisdom and a regard for the principles of home rule which have commanded the respect and co-operation of the educational leaders of the Commonwealth, and attracted the attention of national leaders as well. Public opinion has not in many years supported the Department as it does today, and the result is that the public schools of Pennsylvania are better than they ever were before.

NATIONAL GUARD.

The National Guard of Pennsylvania is today at a higher point of morale, equipment, and organization than at any other time in its history. It has increased its efficiency so markedly as to attract national attention. Frequent reference is being made to the Pennsylvania National Guard by the War Department as a model organization.

Infractions of discipline are less than 20% of what they were, which is high proof of an improver morale. The system of property accounting established since 1923 has been accepted by the Federal Government as ideal. The War Department frankly calls it the Pennsylvania system, and recommends its use to other States.

Indeed, the progress made in both personnel and organization has brought to the Pennsylvania National Guard official recognition throughout the United States as one of the very leading organizations of its kind.

During this Administration, Pennsylvania has become one of the four States which has a complete Division as authorized by the National Defense Act, and one of the two States in which this Division is completely organized. Recent inspections of the Pennsylvania Guard by Federal authorities have brought nothing but favorable comment as to equipment, organization and training.

Improvement in the morale and conduct of the men at the annual encampments has been most marked during the past four years. The responsible officers attribute the improvement to the much stricter enforcement of prohibition under this Administration, and to its refusal to promote members of the Guard who were known to have been guilty of infractions of the liquor laws.

Men at the camps are very seldom absent without leave, and the Commanding Officer states that he cannot recall, during the last three years, a single case due to intoxication in which a man was arrested, tried, and punished. The result is greater efficiency as a military force and a better spirit between officers and men.

Because commissions are now made permanent and are conferred only after examination, and because the increased prestige of the Guard makes commissions more desirable, the peace-time officer personnel is undoubtedly at the highest point in the history of the Guard.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agriculture is not only the one indispensable industry, but it represents a larger investment of capital, than any other industry in Pennsylvania, with only a single exception.

The annual gross income of agriculture in Pennsylvania is more than half a billion dollars, and is produced on 200,000 farms.

Because this Administration realized these facts from the start, it attached great importance to the work of the Department of Agriculture, and appointed at its head a man who knew the farmer's needs because he was not only actually earning his living on his own farm when appointed, but also because he had for many years been a most successful leader of farmers in business enterprises of great scope and importance.

This Administration has prompted co-operation among farmers because it is the key to agricultural progress. In 1923 the Department took the lead in the formation of the State Council of Agricultural Organizations, which, acting as a central voice for agriculture, has made noteworthy contributions to the solution of farm problems.

Tuberculosis among cattle is a dangerous threat to the health of children as well as a cause of loss to the farmers. More money was made available during the last four years for eradicating cattle tuberculosis and more herds were thereby freed from the scourge than during all previous years combined. Forty per cent of the cattle in Pennsylvania have already been tested, and if the work is continued tuberculosis can shortly be driven out of the herds of this State.

Hog cholera has been practically conquered, and a plan for control of bovine abortion, which causes a loss of several million dollars a year, has been developed and is in practice. More dogs by 150,000 were licensed in 1926 than in 1922. The fees go to help the children by paying for tuberculosis eradication.

Peach yellows in important peach growing counties has been reduced to one-tenth of what it was in 1921; potato wart has been held in check; and the spread of the Japanese beetle has been efficiently combated.

The Department gives valuable service through its market reports, which now have a daily distribution of nearly three million; through its shipping point inspection, which covered 1,500 cars of peaches, apples and potatoes in 1926; through its successful effort to establish a home market for Pennsylvania wheat, which is now on a par in price with the best winter wheat of the West; through its assistance to co-operative organizations, which have grown in strength, membership, and financial standing; and through its poultry and egg marketing work begun since 1923.

Since 1924 the Department has been co-operating closely with the Federal Government in the gathering, compiling, and distribution of crop and live stock reports. Special reports are also made on intentions to plant, which guide the farmer in alloting acreage to different crops, and are most valuable in avoiding a disastrous surplus.

By the constant vigilance of the Department, the food supply of the State has been brought to the highest standard of purity ever reached. Over 400,000 inspections of food products were made during the last four years.

Through the cooperation of many agencies, including the Department of Agriculture, the State Farm Products Show has doubled in size and in the number of affiliated organizations since 1922. It is now the largest winter show of its kind in the United States.

In 1925 the Department, as authorized by the Act of 1895, made the first study of farm taxation in the State, which has furnished the facts upon which to build a program of relief measures for the farmer, the need of which is gravely and rightly felt in many sections.

During the four years of this Administration the expenses of the Department were covered within one million dollars by the revenues created, while of the total expenditure about half was returned to the farmers for indemnities and premiums at fairs. In view of the work done, the cost to the taxpayer is negligible.

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTS AND WATERS.

For the first time since extensive lumbering began in this Commonwealth, forest growth has caught up with and now exceeds the loss from fire. This is directly due to our effective State-wide forest fire organization, which is today the best in the United States, not even excepting that of the Federal Government.

The true test of efficiency in such an organization is the size of the average forest fire. In these four years it has been reduced to 48 acres. The best previous record was 78 acres in 1921. For 1916-1920 it was 142 acres, and for 1913-1915 it was 339 acres. Pennsylvania now has an admirable system of fire towers, and more than eight hundred forest fire wardens have been added during this Administration.

Upon my urgent recommendation, the Legislature twice passed a resolution to authorize a bond issue of $25,000,000 for the purchase of forest land. No other State has initiated so comprehensive a plan of State Forest acquisition, and none needs it more. Although the time is near when we must depend on our own supplies or go without, Pennsylvania now grows only one-fifth of the timber she uses.

The largest number of forest tree seedlings ever distributed by the Department in one year (10,000,000) were sent out in 1926. In 1927 this large figure will be doubled.

The State Forest School at Mont Alto has been made from an academy into a full professional school. It has been raised to an entirely new level and is now well able to compare with any of its fellows. The course has been increased from three years to four, and graduates of the school now receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry. A new building with a capacity of one hundred students is about completed.

Pennsylvania is the only State which maintains a special forest research organization. The activities and the accomplishments of this organization have at least doubled during the four years, and as a result for the first time Pennsylvania foresters are beginning to make important contributions to the literature and the science of forestry, as well as greatly to improve their handling of our own forests.

Forestry has made immense progress in Pennsylvania during the last four years. The business men of Pennsylvania have come to realize that no business whatever can be conducted without the use of wood, while the cooperation of the organized hunters and fishermen in the detection and prevention of forest fires deserves the highest praise. The need for forest protection is an accepted fact in this Commonwealth.

The use of the State forests for hunting, fishing, and camping has enormously increased. Twice as many permanent camp sites are now leased on State Forest land as in 1922. Almost five times as many people now visit the State Forests for recreation as in that year. Tourists camps to the number of 25 have been added, the forest roads now cover 1318 miles and trails 2544 miles; and the State Forests are steadily taking a larger and more important part as the playgrounds of the people.

If the acquisition of the best fishing waters of the State by private clubs goes on at its present rate, the only hope of the unprivileged fisherman will be the open waters on State Forests lands.

The total income from the State Forests during the last four years almost equals the total for all the years from 1900 to 1921. As the State Forests come into better production, these receipts, most of which go to the school fund, if the State Forest bond issue is passed, ultimately bear a very considerable percentage of the total cost of the common schools.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The Administrative Code transferred the Geological Survey to the Department of Forests and Waters, with a great resulting increase of its very useful activities. In particular, its value to the public has been enlarged many fold by the publication of fourteen manuscripts based upon extensive field studies and investigations, some of which had been withheld for many years.

Under executive order and upon recommendation of this Department, an inter-department Board of Surveys and Maps was created to coordinate the mapping of all State Departments, and a new base map was prepared under its direction to meet an urgent need.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

When this Administration began perhaps the worst example of how gang politics is paid for in human life, in any of the Departments responsible to the Governor, was in the Department of Labor and Industry. It is the principle duty of this Department to protect the lives and the health of workers in the industries of Pennsylvania. It could not do that and play politics too.

The factory inspection service, in particular, with the safety of millions of workers in its charge, was in politics upto its neck. For that service any worn out political hack was considered good enough. Even the protection of human life played second fiddle to the advantage of political insiders.

The outstanding achievements of the Department of Labor and Industry have been the elimination of politics from its decisions and appointments, and the development of professional service in its operations.

Today the factory inspection service has been completely made over. What efficient men had crept in have been retained. The corps has been put on a professional basis, and thereafter no one has been appointed to it who did not have the technical training necessary to make him thoroughly effective in his work of conserving lives.

Politics has no place where the safety and health of the workers of the State are concerned, and it has been eliminated from this Department. Both employer and employee, it has been conclusively proved, now desire this Department to be operated on an impartial, professional, and non-political basis.

As a result of the standards of inspection which have been maintained, there has been in Pennsylvania a steady decrease in the number of industrial accidents over which this Department has supervision. At the same time such accidents have shown a marked increase in practically every other large industrial state.

Complete revision of the safety codes enforced by the Department was undertaken. Twelve codes have been revised and nine new codes adopted with the complete co-operation of the industries affected. The adoption of these codes will result in decreased industrial hazards in the years to come. In several cases Pennsylvania codes have become the model for adoption in other states.

A Bureau of Women and Children has been established to make studies of conditions of employment of these groups and to supervise industrial home work. It has done admirable service. When unregulated, this work was becoming the outstanding evil of the industrial life of this State. Intelligent amendment of the women's and child labor laws will hereafter be possible in Pennsylvania because of the information which this Bureau will make available.

A Bureau of Statistics has been established which provides much needed current data on industrial and employment conditions within Pennsylvania, in addition to developing statistics concerning the operations of the Department.

In place of a disorganized Department whose bureaus, at the beginning of this Administration, were frequently at loggerheads, there now exists a co-ordinated Department operated strictly for the benefit of the people of the State, and not for the benefit of any particular group. The high professional standards now obtaining constitute the outstanding contribution which this Administration leaves in this Department to its successor.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.

The Department of Health was honeycombed with politics when this Administration began. Its employees were used in campaign attacks upon candidates opposed to the gang, and in many of the institutions under it, but not in all, political favoritism was rampant.

During these four years the Department of Health has been taken out of politics, its employees now work for the State and not for politicians, their employment has been put on a basis of merit instead of pull, and the result is plainly seen in the immense increase in the quantity and quality of service rendered to the Commonwealth. This Administration has declined to let the health of our people continue to be the plaything of politics.

With the elimination of politics and the reorganization of the Department, its work has everywhere increased in efficiency, and the administration of the hospitals under its charge has been greatly improved. In the State Sanatorium at Cresson, Pennsylvania has now and has long had one of the most intelligently planned and best administered institutions in the United States.

Heretofore efforts to improve the public health have been largely confined to the cities. During the last four years special attention has been given to health work in the country, formerly seriously neglected. The inspection of children in country schools has been put on a wholly new basis by the employment of State nurses equipped with automobiles, and corrections of defects have already been secured in thirty per cent of the children examined. Field laboratories have tested 4,363 water supplies, much less than half of which were found to be safe. A traveling health car and a traveling chest clinic have been exceedingly valuable for the discussion they occasioned, as well as for the actual work they did.

Some 400 untrained health officers in rural districts have been replaced by 36 full time men trained in the United States Field Service Medical School at Carlisle. This is real progress.

A crippled children's hospital was provided for in 1925, and is now under construction near Elizabethtown.

The sanatoria and dispensaries conducted by the Department have been operated to full capacity, with the exception of a few months in 1923, when the abandonment of the Veterans' Bureau contract made it necessary to close a part of Mont Alto. Since January 1, 1923, 13,500 patients have been admitted to the sanatoria, of whom nearly 3,000 were children.

During these four years the death rate from tuberculosis has fallen 13%, while the general death rate has been reduced from 13.3 in 1923 to 12.4 in 1926.

No less than 450,000 children have been immunized against diphtheria by the Department of Health in the last four years. In consequence the death rate from this disease has been reduced 50 per cent.

The State had no regulations covering the collection and handling of milk, and because of that many children died. In 1923 the Department of Health made good the lack. In consequence a model milk ordinance was adopted by 100 municipalities, and two traveling laboratories have made more than 25,000 tests.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS.

During the past four years the Department of Highways has built more miles of good road than were ever constructed during a similar period by any highway organization in the world, or than were built during the entire previous history of the State Highway System.

During the four years the Department supervised the construction of 4,500 miles of major road work, 2,700 miles of new pavement, 250 miles of replacement, 1,400 miles of resurfacing of worn out stone roads, and about 150 miles of grading and drainage, the paving for which has been provided for. In addition about 400 miles have been put under contract for paving and about 50 miles for grading and drainage, most of which would have been completed had it not been for the exceptionally rainy season of 1926.

The Department has supervised the expenditure of more than $260,000,000 on road work without a single breath of scandal. Under the method of financing highway work advanced by this Administration and approved by the Legislature of 1925 the users of the highways, through motor license fees and the gasoline tax, are now paying the entire highway bill.

By driving out politics and making competence instead of pull the test of employment, the Department has maintained the roads under its charge better than they were ever maintained before.

Before this Administration came in county superintendents of highway maintenance were required to have political endorsement. As a result they were generally incompetent. Appointments now go only to men who know their job. Since these men have charge of the expenditure of approximately $15,000,000 a year on 12,000 miles of road, what taking them out of politics means to the people who use the roads requires no comment.

New roads are no longer the subject of barter among politicians. Where a new road shall be built is determined by actual count of traffic, and the type of road is determined by the character and quantity of the traffic and the estimate of future needs.

With the exception of some twelve miles which are subject of negotiation, the Department has completed or contracted for the 1130 miles of road necessary for the completion of the primary highway system.

In addition to the primary system, about 1200 miles of unimproved highways on the secondary state highway system have been paved or are under construction. The assistance given to the counties during this Administration covers 460 miles of State-aid construction and more than equals the total for the four preceding Administrations.

This Administration also allocated $10,000,000 of the last $50,000,000 bond issue to be used on the State-aid basis of 50 per cent from the State and 50 per cent from the county for secondary roads. In addition to the paving of 450 miles of road thus made possible, 445 miles, wholly at the expense of the counties, have been built or are under contract under the supervision of the Highway Department, or about twice the mileage of the preceding four years.

The appropriation of $3,000,000 from the motor license receipts during the present biennium for township reward work is the largest ever made. To this should be added about $1,300,000 of old township reward appropriations, long made but never paid, or a total of over $4,300,000 for township reward work for the present four years. This is more than was spent during the two previous administrations.

The safety and convenience of the traveling public has been advanced during these four years as never before. White traffic lines are painted on the pavements on all curves and on hills. Twenty thousand sign posts and warning signs have been erected, and reflectors have been placed at dangerous locations to make night driving safe. About 700 miles of guard rail of a most efficient design have been built in dangerous places. Many miles of narrow and dangerous roads have been widened, and the warning markings at dangerous crossings have greatly promoted the safety of highway travel.

The completion of the annual oiling program before July 1 of each year (during the last two years before June 15), instead of carrying it through the whole working season, is a most important advance. This change, together with the oiling of the roads in half widths and the immediate covering of the oiled surface with stone, has been of great benefit to travelers, and so has the oiling of the more important earth roads to eliminate dust.

So also has the new practice of constructing roads in half widths where justified by the traffic. Where that is not practicable, the Department has undertaken to maintain suitable detours on local roads, together with adequate markings to prevent the motorist from losing his way. Not a single complaint was received in 1926 indicating that a motorist had lost his way on a Department detour.

Safety on the highways is the biggest highway problem of the present day, and must be given right-of-way over all others. About 1,700 persons are being killed in Pennsylvania each year through automobile accidents, a large percentage of which is due to careless and reckless driving and glaring headlights.

The safety of the traveling public has been better guarded than ever before by the establishment of the Highway Patrol, which, through an intensive and successful campaign to prevent dangerous driving and to eliminate glaring headlights, has immensely reduced reckless driving on the highway of the State. The examination of applicants for driving licenses by the Highway Patrol has cut down the number of incompetent and therefore dangerous drivers.

One thing that the replacement of dirt by hard surface in the last four years means to the motor vehicle owners of Pennsylvania is an annual saving of $29,000,000 in the cost of operating their automobiles. Deducting the annual charge, interest, and sinking fund on the investment and the maintenance cost due to this construction, this means a net saving to the people of the state of nearly $18,000,000 annually. An additional $7,000,000 a year in reduced motor vehicle operating costs and in annual charges and maintenance on 145 miles of construction has been saved by relocations, which shortened the roads by this distance.

Another saving of $12,000,000 (an average of $5,000 per mile on about 2400 miles of concrete road completed or under way) is due to a new type of design, which in addition gives a pavement of greater strength and durability than under the old design.

During this Administration the State undertook to see that 6,340 miles of the 8,000 miles of paved roads on the State system are kept cleared of snow and open to travel throughout the winter. Before 1923 there were only 1,400 miles of on the snow removal program. The Department does not wait until a storm is over, but begins the removal work the moment snow reaches a depth of two inches.

The Department has published a map of the highway system and important local roads expressly suited to the tourist; has distributed 500,000 copies of the Tourists Guide, said to be the best ever published; and sends weekly throughout the State a map of detours in operation.

By a simpler and more direct procedure, vexatious delays in the issuance of motor licenses have been removed, and the cost of getting them has been reduced.

The Department of Highways has been completely reorganized during this Administration, and special attention has been given to building up closer and more cordial relations with the thousands of its employes. The result appears in a degree of efficiency never before approached.

DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE.

During the past four years the Department of Welfare has been reorganized and put on its feet. When this Administration came into office it was but eighteen months old and was still very much in the embryo stage. Now it is a growing concern with a complete organization, sound and modern business methods, and definite achievements to its credit.

Chief among these is the revolution which has been accomplished in the penitentiaries of Pennsylvania since the beginning of 1923. The conditions at that time were appalling. The administration of the prisons was political in the worst sense of that term, and the buildings were unclean, disorderly, and filled with dope-users and dope-peddlers, and with idle men. Whiskey and alcohol were easily available and immorality was rampant.

Today it is within the truth to say that our prisons and reformatories, in spite of antiquated buildings, are second to none in the United States. The complete change of trustees in these institutions has resulted in four years' time in a peaceful revolution. The prisons are now orderly, clean, free from dope-users and dope-peddlers, free from whiskey and alcohol, and the morality of the inmates has enormously improved from every point of view.

This is largely due to the development of prison industries in harmony with policies approved by the Federation of Labor and the National Chamber of Commerce; to the development of handicraft; and to the utilization of maintainance work for the purpose of trade training. Trade training is further advanced in our prisons than in any other prisons in the United States.

The prison industries are diversified and now cover not less than a dozen different lines. Moreover, not one penny of the taxpayers' money has been spent in the development of these industries during this administration. Their working capital has been earned by the industries themselves, while at the same time wages have been paid to the prisoner-workers, as well as to the men engaged in the maintenance work of the prisons.

The Welfare Department now has full control of its own business. In the reorganization of the State Government, under the Administrative Code, the twenty-seven State Institutions in the fields of mental health, corrections, and charities were made integral parts of the Department. Subsequently, there were added as individual parts within the Department, the State Council of the Blind and the Alcohol Permit Board.

The expenditures of the Department, including the institutions under it, are in complete budgetary control, with this effect: In 1923 every State Welfare Institution, except the Hazelton State Hospital, showed a maintenance deficit. The year 1927 will show but one such deficit, and that one justified by the needs of sick people which had to be met.

State appropriations to private hospitals were formerly handled strictly on a basis of politics. Under the old plan appropriations as measured by days of free patient treatment varied among hospitals from 3 cents to $4.32. Today payment is made on a basis of absolute equality between hospitals of the same class, at the rate of $3.00 per day, or at the actual cost if less than $3.00—all to the chagrin of the politicians and the great financial advantage of the hospitals, which are no longer obliged to "show a deficit" in order to be paid for the service they render.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania no longer plays politics with the needs of sick people, defectives, or prisoners. This is a great step toward eliminating the most effective instrument of corruption used in the Legislature during my time. That is the power to punish Legislators who refuse to go along by cutting down appropriations to their local hospitals or other charitable institutions, or to increase appropriations even beyond reason for Legislators who do go along.

The preparation and adoption of a greatly improved mental health code marked a most important forward step toward the solution of a problem of vast and growing consequence to the people of Pennsylvania.

The enormous wealth of social statistics of Pennsylvania found in annual reports covering state, county, state-aided, and private welfare agencies has for the first time been vigorously studied and publications based upon it in the field of hospital and poor law administration and child welfare have attracted nation wide attention.

In its relating to local institutions subject to its inspection but not administered by it, of which there are 898, the Department has adopted for its slogan "Home rule in welfare work," and has endeavored to help public officials and trustees of private charitable undertakings to develop their own work for themselves upon proper lines. As a result, the alms house, jails, and children's homes of the State have attained (in spite of certain specific exceptions) a general level of excellence never before reached. My own personal inspection of some three or four hundred State and State-aided hospitals, institutions, and agencies during the summer of 1925 enables me to speak on this point.

The number of mental health clinics has been increased from 20 to 51 in the past four years. This will result in reducing the number of patients requiring institutional care, while the increase in occupational and musical therapy will provide a larger percentage of recovery and parole and thus reduce institutional overcrowding. The number of patients on parole has doubled in the four years—thus making available for new patients more than twelve hundred new beds.

Great attention has been given to the work of the Mothers' Assistance Boards. During this administration the appropriations for this work, whose purpose is to keep children with their mothers instead of sending them to institutions, increased 75%. In my opinion no money is spent by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which produces a higher return.

The Commonwealth has in the Pennsylvania State Police the most highly trained and efficient body of policemen in North America.

During the last four years the Pennsylvania State Police has done more police work than was accomplished in the first twelve years of its existence. And this in spite of an appropriation limited during the first two years by the necessity for paying off the State debt, and in the last two years by the fear of political leaders in the Legislature that an increase in the State Police force would result in hampering the operations of law breaking liquor interests whom these leaders desired to protect.

But notwithstanding that its average strength has been only 278 men out of an authorized strength of 421 men, the State Police, in addition to its regular work, has made 14,095 arrests for violations of the liquor laws; seized 62,212 barrels of beer, 619,202 quarts of alcohol and whiskey, and has confiscated 1,329 automobiles.

The campaign of the State Police against violators of the Constitution has had real results. In spite of the failure of district attorneys in certain counties to do their duty; in spite of the frequent refusal of grand juries to indict on the clearest evidence in spite of the open tendency of many courts to avoid jail sentences, and let liquor law violators off as easily as possible, 67 per cent of convictions in this class of cases have been secured by the State Police.

During the four years the State Police have handled 44,447 criminal cases and have secured 81.5 per cent of convictions. Fines to the amount of nearly $2,200,000 have resulted from their operations, and they have been exceptionally successful in solving homicide and bank robbery cases.

These facts entirely dispose of the charge frequently made by persons more interested in violating than in observing the law that the State Police have been demoralized by their effort, under my orders, to compel respect for the Eighteenth Amendment. The morale of the force was never better, as the feats of valor in its record amply prove. The integrity of individual officers is high, although scarcely a man in the organization has not been tempted by bribes larger than his salary for several years. In the few cases where men have yielded, the esprit de corps of the organization was so good that its own members were responsible for bringing the culprits to account.

Before the last four years it was the common belief that the State Police were used under orders to assist corporations in breaking strikes. Whether or not this belief is justified, during this Administration they have willingly followed my instructions and have been absolutely impartial in every labor dispute. The result is such a change of attitude on the part of organized labor that I have many times been asked by strikers to keep State Police at the scene of the strike.

The men and officers of the State Police force during this Administration have worked harder and for longer hours than at any previous time. Their devotion to duty under the efficient leadership of Major Adams has been such as to deserve the grateful recognition which, in the name of the Commonwealth, I am most happy to record.

DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES

Approximately two million dollars have been saved the State in the last four years by eliminating politics and introducing modern business methods in the Department of Property and Supplies.

For the biennuim 1921-23 the Department spent about three and one-half million dollars for general supplies, maintenance of public buildings, telegraph and telephone service, and printing and binding. For the next two years practically the same work was done at a reduction of just over a million dollars, and for the present two years the Budget provides it shall be done at a reduction of just under a million dollars, or a total saving for the same service of two million dollars in four years.

Some of this huge saving is due to weeding out useless and incompetent political job holders, but the greater part came from the introduction of such modern purchasing methods as are used by great corporations, and by letting each Department know in advance what it can count upon for printing, stationery, etc.

Thus each Department knows beforehand exactly how much it has to go on, and the incentive to economy is correspondingly strong. Under the old system there was no limitation, with the result that the General Assembly of 1923 was asked to appropriate more than half a million dollars for deficiencies incurred from this cause.

Now note the saving under better methods. In 1921-23 the cost of printing was $1,252,436; in 1923-25 it was $760,000; and for 1926-27 the Budget provides $758,606. This saving has been effected notwithstanding the large amount of additional printing required in the conduct of the State's business. Nothing like this was ever done before in Pennsylvania.

The general supplies are now purchased through the Bureau of Standards and Purchases, which has reduced this business to so efficient a system that the supplies of the State are not only obtained at lower figures, but in many cases also of higher grades than in the old days, when contracts went to political favorites. Better goods for less money.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES.

When this Administration came in, the mine inspection service was headed by a politician wholly unfit to be charged with the safety of hundreds of thousands of men. I removed him promptly and put in his place the present Secretary of Mines, who was universally recognized as the best equipped man in Pennsylvania for this important and responsible work. I did so without inquiring and without knowing his politics. He was the best man to protect the lives of the miners, and that was enough.

During the present Administration the Department of Mines has not only carried forward its regular work upon a high standard of efficiency, but has reduced the number of accidents in mines. In 1922, the fatal accidents per million man days were 14.07. In 1925 they were 11.35. That means 171 less deaths from accidents in proportion.

The Department has introduced the rock dusting safety method in bituminous coal mines with important results in the prevention of explosions and the saving of human life; and has taken part in the settlement of two strikes in the anthracite region.

A mining course, prepared by the Department of Mines, the Department of Public Instruction, and State College for use in vocational schools throughout the coal regions, is the most complete course of its kind ever prepared by any State Government.

In Pennsylvania there are 1,700 bituminous mines and about 750 anthracite mines. The State has a force of fifty-five qualified inspectors who have charge of the supervision of these mines for the protection of the miners. During this Administration, the inspectors have made more than 33,000 inspections of mines and investigations of accidents.

The inspectors are selected by examination through a Mine Inspectors' Examining Board for the anthracite and another for the bituminous coal fields. The methods employed in both have recently been found to be unsatisfactory. They need to be completely revised.

DEPARTMENT OF BANKING.

The past four years of prosperity brought into the banks, trust companies, and building associations of Pennsylvania an increase in the various funds entrusted to their care of approximately three billion dollars.

The Banking Department has met its added responsibility ably and completely. First of all, it has made honesty and ability the test in its appointments without regard to political considerations. During the last four years it has made more frequent and more effective examinations than ever before, and has complied for the first time with the law which requires at least one examination a year of the financial institutions of the state.

The Department has uncovered more embezzlements and defalcations in these four years than during its entire previous history. Most of these defalcations were of many years standing, and were discovered as a result of the searching examinations now being made of financial institutions. In every instance, the offender was promptly prosecuted.

Public confidence in the Banking Department was never stronger than it is today. The divorcing of politics from the administration of the Department has brought a greater measure of protection to the savings of our working men and women and to financial interests generally than the State has ever before supplied.

Under the law, and for obvious reasons, much of the most important and constructive work of the Department must be kept secret. It may be said, however, that the Department has discovered and caused the correction of many unsatisfactory conditions which, if allowed to run on, would have seriously embarrassed the institutions involved.

No small portion of the improved financial condition of the citizens of the State is due to the work of the Bureau of Securities. During the three years of its existence, this bureau has done more to protect the people of Pennsylvania from the operations of security swindlers than any other agency in the history of the State.

Since its establishment the Security Bureau has refused to license dealers desiring to sell a total of $758,000,000 of questionable or unsafe securities in Pennsylvania. The money which otherwise might have gone into the pockets of swindlers if invested in these securities was thereby saved to our people. At the same time, 1,707 other dealers and 6,119 agents have been denied registration.

Pennsylvania no longer is regarded as a fertile field for the get-rich-quick stock swindler. Bucket shops have been driven completely from the state, while hundreds of high-pressure salesmen who formerly used their time to profitable advantage in Pennsylvania now are compelled to seek victims elsewhere.

The principal credit for this remarkable and most valuable piece of work belongs to Einard Barfod, who with the enthusiastic cooperation of his associate, Walter J. Fallows, and the firm support of the Secretary of Banking, has disregarded threats, resisted pressure, uncovered subterfuges, and turned on the light in one of the most remarkable campaigns for the protection of the people that I have ever known.

Just what legitimate business thinks of the work of the "Blue Sky" Bureau is shown by a resolution adopted by the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association at its convention in 1925, which reads:

"Resolved that we heartily commend the Bureau of Securities at Harrisburg for their courageous and faithful administration * * * that we express our appreciation of the results already obtained in the elimination from Pennsylvania of the fake stock salesmen."

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

A good start has been made toward ridding Pennsylvania of insurance frauds. I regret to report that inefficiency of many years' standing at last reached such an intolerable stage in the Insurance Department that I found it necessary, a little more than four months ago, to replace the Insurance Commissioner with a younger and more energetic man. Accordingly I appointed Einard Barfod, whose fearless and intelligent enforcement of the Securities Act is nationally known. Since that time the Insurance Department has been completely reorganized and restored to usefulness and service.

Since its reorganization the Department has taken a firm grip on the unsafe, unsound, or actually dishonest insurance combinations which have so widely and so heartlessly victimized our people. A complete survey has been made of all insurance organizations doing business within the State. No less than 192 insurance organizations suspected of wrong practices have been put under special scrutiny. Within the last two months ouster or liquidation proceedings have been started against 55 improper, undesirable, or unsafe insurance companies or societies, the proceedings against 28 of which have been completed.

Formerly, any insurance organization which came to this State with recommendations from the department of its home State was admitted. That meant that the Pennsylvania Insurance Department had transferred the duty of protecting Pennsylvania citizens to the Insurance Departments of other States. Now Pennsylvania examines all applicants without exception. Since last August no new company from any other State has been able to pass the requirements for admission to this State.

The authority to license insurance agents, which had been surrendered to private and selfish interests, has been retrieved by the State, and is now exercised by the Department only, in the public interest only, and not for private exploitation or intrigue.

The work of the reorganized Pennsylvania Insurance Department has attracted the attention and earned the commendation of the legitimate interests of the entire country. If it is carried forward vigorously and without political interference, Pennsylvania will become as famous for the honesty and soundness of its insurance business as it today is for the honesty and soundness of its investment banking business.

To complete the clean-up in the insurance business, the Insurance Department needs legislative assistance. Proper action on your part will make it as safe for the people of Pennsylvania to insure as it has already been made safe for them to invest.

BOARD OF GAME COMMISSIONERS.

Pennsylvania is now the best game State in the Union. In 1925 the State produced about 5,500 tons of wild game for food valued at something like $5,000,000.00, and the amount of game available to sportsmen is steadily increasing.

All this is due mainly to our system of game refuges. It is also due to the work of the Commission, to a general revision and codification of the game laws adopted in 1923, and especially to better and more willing observance of the law by the hunters of the State. Only two-tenths of one per cent of convicted offenders against the Game Laws are licensed sportsmen, and at least one-quarter of these are men who voluntarily give themselves up when they have killed unlawful game by mistake.

The sportsmen of Pennsylvania are giving more and more attention to the advancement of sportsmanship in game protection and law observance, and also to the prevention of forest fires, the extension of our State Forests, and the purification of our streams. The work which the hunting and fishing associations of Pennsylvania are doing in these directions deserves the commendation of the whole Commonwealth.

In 1922 Pennsylvania had 38 game refuges. Now we have 103. They cover more than a quarter of a million acres, and constitute the most practical and extensive undertaking for wild life conservation ever set on foot by any State.

During the past four years both the field and office forces of the Game Commission have beeen reorganized, the term of members of the Board has been increased to six years in order to insure a continuous policy, and the Hungarian partridge has been introduced.

More than 525,000 hunting licenses were issued in 1926. It is remarkable that the State which has the largest number of hunters and the largest annual bag should nevertheless continue to have the largest amount of game.

BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS.

The fishing situation in Pennsylvania can be looked at in two ways. One is that the propagation, distribution, and protection of fish has reached a new high mark during the last four years, when more than 1,120,000,000 fish were turned loose in the waters of Pennsylvania. Moreover, while in 1923 a total of 168,000,000 were distributed, the distribution in the first eleven months of 1926 was 326,000,000.

Not only has the number of fish distributed annually more than doubled during this Administration, but provision has been made for still further increasing the output. Some twenty new ponds have been constructed at the present State hatcheries; the Reynoldsdale trout hatchery site has been purchased and paid for; a new site has been recommended at Tionesta; and another is under consideration in the Southeastern section of the State. The business methods of the Fish Commission have been entirely recast and it is now doing its work and doing it well.

The new, improved, and simplified Fish Code, passed in 1925, is one of the best pieces of fish legislation ever enacted. Its purpose is to conserve the fish in Pennsylvania waters with the least possible restriction on the angler.

The age limit for resident fishermen's license has been reduced during this Administration from 21 to 16 years. All inland fishing has been restricted to two rods, two lines, and one hand line, with not more than three hooks attached to each. This does away with a variety of special devices, whose yearly catch is estimated at half a million pounds, and leaves so much more fish for the rod fisherman.

The other way to look at fishing in Pennsylvania is that, thanks mainly to the automobile, the number of fishermen has enormously increased, and waters which were rarely touched a few years ago are now fished hard throughout the season. So numerous are the fishermen and so accessible are the streams, that fish life, in spite of the immense increase in the distribution of fish, is fighting a losing fight in Pennsylvania.

As a fisherman myself, I am keenly interested in the preservation of our fishing, but I realize the present enormous drain upon the fish in our streams and lakes. If it goes on, and if the acquisition of the best fishing waters by private clubs continues to restrict the waters open to public fishing and thereby concentrates more fishermen on less miles of stream, serious days are ahead for the anglers of Pennsylvania. My personal judgment is that our fishermen will be forced before very long to choose between increasing the size and decreasing the number of the legal daily catch, or going without good fishing altogether.

The most important single undertaking by the Fish Commission during these four years is a survey of the streams and lakes of the Commonwealth. Under it all waters are classified as to area, depth, species of fish, aquatic life, etc. When the survey is finished it will provide complete information to show the carrying capacity of every lake and stream, and what the distribution of fish should be properly to stock all the waters of the State.

Upon request of the Sanitary Water Board, to which the Administrative Code transferred enforcement of the pollution clause of the Fish Law, field agents of the Board of Fish Commissioners have examined the streams and waters in fifteen counties, and upon their reports the Sanitary Water Board has designated more than 4,000 miles of class A streams which are now pure and which will be kept pure. This is an achievement of the first importance.

DELAWARE RIVER BRIDGE.

The Delaware River Bridge between the States of Pennsylvania and New Jersey at Philadelphia and Camden is the largest of its kind in the world. It was skillfully planned and honestly built, and it was opened on July 1, 1926, three days ahead of the date set years before. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania appropriated nearly $11,000,000 towards its cost.

During 1925 the completion of the bridge was threatened by the contention that the charging of tolls was obligatory upon the State of New Jersey and by the mandate of the Pennsylvania Legislature that the bridge must be toll free. At first I assumed that the bridge ought to be free and accordingly signed the bill which so provided. Later I became convinced that, both for the relief of Pennsylvania tax-payers and for the prompt completion of the bridge, tolls should be charged.

Accordingly, I recommended the reversal of the Pennsylvania position to the Extraordinary Session of 1926. It accepted the recommendation. The result will be to return to the taxpayers of the State the $10,784,662 appropriated, with interest to almost the same amount.

Traffic across the bridge has greatly exceeded the estimates of the engineers. Tolls have been paid without confusion or delay. Not a single complaint against them has reached the management. There are no free passes. In the end the bridge will have cost the Commonwealth nothing. It is a great public improvement which pays for itself.

STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION.

The State Athletic Commission has been in existence a little over three years. During that time the character of boxing and wrestling contests has been revolutionized.

The Commission has superivised sixteen hundred exhibitions, including boxing and wrestling, with a total of over eight thousand separate contests. Among the sixteen thousand contestants not a single serious injury has taken place. This is proof that under the supervision of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission boxing and wrestling are not brutal exhibitions but forms of legitimate sport.

The Commission managed the Tunney-Dempsey boxing match most admirably. It was by far the greatest event of the kind ever known in the history of the world. One hundred and forty thousand persons attended, and the State received $86,000.00 as its share. I have never been present at a more orderly or better conducted exhibition of any sort anywhere.

COMMISSION TO STUDY OLD AGE PENSIONS.

During the past two years this Commission has carried out exhaustive studies whose conclusions will shortly be laid before you. Whatever legal and constitutional difficulties may lie in the way, the Commission is convinced of the immediate necessity for a constructive plan of State action.

The Commission reports that only China, India, and the United States still remain without effective provisions for the aged; that the cost of old age pensions in the four States which have adopted them amounts to but one-fifth to one-third of the cost of supporting the same persons in almshouses; and that the industrial pension plans which have been adopted by various corporations cover but six per cent of the needy aged.

Finally, the Commission unanimously recommends the second passage of the Joint Resolution adopted by the Legislature of 1925 which provides for the amendment of Article 3 of the State Constitution so as to permit the Legislature to make appropriations for assistance to aged indigent residents of the Commonwealth.

THE DELAWARE RIVER PACT.

New ground in the conservation of interstate waters is broken by the proposed Compact for the regularization and utilization for all purposes of the waters of the Delaware River Basin, now under negotiation between representatives of Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey. It supplies a sound and practical method for the constructive utilization and development of interstate waters by the three States, with justice to all three, and settles the interstates questions concerning the water resources of the Delaware which have prevented its full utilization and development during past years.

Authorization to negotiate was given by the respective Legislatures in 1923, and the Commissioners of the three States submitted a form of Compact to the Legislature of each State in 1925. New York approved the Compact in the form submitted, but New Jersey referred it to a Commission instructed to consider it in relation to the whole water supply question of the States.

Negotiations have since been resumed, and the Commissioners of the three States have now agreed in substance upon a form of compact which will be submitted this year to the three Legislatures.

The proposed Compact will make possible the utilization of approximately one-third of the total water resources of the Delaware and its tributaries, or sufficient to meet the needs of the three States for the next fifty years, leaving the allocation of the remaining waters to future generations.

It takes into account also the great advantage to be gained by storage in the regularization of stream flow, and makes possible the utilization of flood waters which now run unused to the sea. At the same time it will materially increase the low water flow of the river just when the water is most needed for navigation and the preservation of the public health.

Through lack of a compact, our one most important boundary stream, the Delaware, has remained practically undeveloped. Its conservation in quantity and quality for the future needs of the three States for domestic and industrial water supply, power, and navigation is nothing less than vital.

Each of the three States has much to gain by this compact. Without it the Delaware must remain unutilized except in a limited local way. The City of Philadelphia especially needs the protection which the compact offers, for the reason that it is entirely dependent for its water supply upon the Delaware River and its tributaries, and must remain so.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

Public opinion in Pennsylvania has not yet been crystallized against the spoils system sufficiently to compel the passage of a civil service law for State employees. Therefore any attempt to secure such a law during my term would have been hopeless. The Administrative Code, however, provides for the classification of the seventeen thousand State employees by the Executive Board. They have been classified, and the classification lays down in writing the duties of every office under the State Government, and provides just what qualifications any candidate for each office must have, as well as the maximum and minimum salary.

Under this classification the whole State service has been taken out of politics and put on a basis of merit instead of pull, and the appointment of political deadheads has been absolutely abolished. So long as an honest and intelligent classification is followed no one can be appointed to a salaried position under the State Government who is not competent to earn his pay.

In four years this Administration has abolished the spoils system in State jobs, and has substituted the merit system for State employees. It leaves in sound working order the nearest approach to a civil service system that can be provided without specific provisions of law.

GIANT POWER

Electric power presents the greatest economic problem before the American people. Thirteen years ago Charles P. Steinmetz told the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia that long distance electrical transmission would revolutionize human life in our time, and warned us against the new evils likely to flow from electrical monopoly.

The Federal Power Act of 1920 met his views in part, and laid the foundation for a new economic policy. For eighty-five per cent of the undeveloped water powers of the United States, it limits licenses to fifty years; fixes the "recapture price" at the end of that time at the original legitimate cost of the works; and, above all, it makes this original cost the rate base upon which the public service commissions of the States must calculate the "fair-return" to which investors are entitled. Thus the Act dedicates the value of the raw water power resources of the country (and especially the increase in that value which follows the increase of population and wealth) to the public and withholds it from speculative promoters.

This Administration has succeeded in coordinating our State water power laws and administration with the Federal Act. It has also succeeded in applying the same principles to steam-generated electricity, and in devising a plan of public control of all electric service calculated and adequate to meet the needs foretold by Steinmetz.

As to water power, the task was accomplished by the Limited Power Permit Act of June 14, 1923, the Condemnation Act of the same date, and the Act of May 28, 1923, for leasing land in State Forests for power purposes—all administration bills.

As to the generation of electricity from coal (the source of 90 per cent of all electricity in Pennsylvania), and as to a general policy of public control for electric service, a careful inquiry was necessary. Accordingly, at my request, the General Assembly, by Act of May 24, 1923, created a Giant Power Survey Board with the Governor as Chairman, to "undertake an outline survey of the water and fuel resources available for Pennsylvania, and of the most practical means for their full utilization for power development, and other related uses; also to recommend, in outline, such policy with respect to the generation and distribution of electric energy as will, in the opinion of the board, best secure for the industries, railroads, farms, and homes of this Commonwealth an abundant and cheap supply of electric current for industrial, transportation, agricultural, and domestic use."

The report of the Giant Power Survey Board was laid before your honorable body in 1925. It marked a wholly new epoch in the development of a public power policy in the United States. It attracted favorable attention throughout this country and in foreign nations, and it recommended a complete scheme of legislation.

The Giant Power Bills constituted the most important group of bills dealing with electricity ever submitted to the Legislature of any State. The benefits they hold for farmers and other consumers of electric current as to both service and price are of the most signal importance. Moreover, they embody the only practicable plan so far devised to control the coming electrical monopoly in the public interest without checking development.

These bills were submitted to the session of 1925 with a special message pointing out their necessity and value. They were promptly killed in committee by the organized electric interests of Pennsylvania. The most important of them, with slight changes, were resubmitted at the special session of 1926. Again they were killed in committee by the same electric interests.

I have no doubt whatever that the substance of these bills will ultimately be adopted in this and other States as the only just alternative to public ownership and operation of electric utilities, unless the dreadful scourge of an unregulated electric monopoly should fall upon us first, as at present it bids fair to do.

In brief the Giant Power Plan consists of four parts:

First, the stimulation of private enterprise for huge production of electricity at the source (the coal fields), with all the economies to be expected, including the recovery of the valuable by-products of coal before burning.

Second, the compulsory pooling of all power systems in the State.

Third, adequate regulation on the principle of the net investment rate base, and service at cost plus a fair profit, without discrimination against the small consumer.

Fourth, control of interstate transmission by the States themselves through interstate compacts.

I am convinced, however, that the almost incredible speed with which a nation wide electrical monopoly is forming through consolidation of companies and systems raises the question whether immediate Federal legislation is not required to protect the public interest before it is too late.

Upon the defeat of the Giant Power Bills in 1925, I created by executive order a Giant Power Board consisting of State officials and the former director of the Giant Power Survey "to set the Giant Power problem in a clear light before the people and to coordinate toward its partial solution all the executive and administrative authority given by existing law." This Board I dissolved by executive order on December 31, 1926. Its report, dated December 7, 1926, is submitted in a separate volume.

ALCOHOL PERMIT BOARD

This Board was created in the Department of Welfare by the Act of February 19, 1926. The passage of this Act marked a great forward step in law enforcement in Pennsylvania.

The Board is empowered to regulate by permit the manufacture, production, denaturization, holding in bond or in storage by bailee for hire, sale at wholesale, and transportation for hire, of alcohol or alcoholic liquors by certain persons.

The Attorney General, the Secretary of Health, and the Secretary of Welfare are designated by the Act as the members of the Board. The fee for each permit issued under the Act is $100.00, and the expenses of the Board are met out of such fees.

The Board has done, and done well, the long, laborious, and difficult task of preparing regulations, under the Act, and of getting its work started. It has proved its great value, it is now a going concern, and it has even greater promise of usefulness hereafter. The State has no more powerful instrument for compelling respect for the dry laws and the Constitution.

Up to December 28, 1926, a total of 188 permits have been issued, and the permits of three breweries have been revoked for cause after public hearing.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

The Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has done little to protect the rights of the people and much to insure and increase the profits of the corporations, as the man in the street well knows. The plain people would be better off with no Public Service Commission at all than with a Commission the majority of whose members, as at present, are mere speaking tubes for the public utilities.

The fact is that the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has been a catspaw for the corporations. By making use of it the public utilities have secured fatter profits from the people than without it they would ever have dared to take for themselves. Without the Commission, the eight-cent fare in Philadelphia would never have been demanded and the people would never have stood for it. In this and in many other cases the Public Service Commission is the sugar coating by means of which the public utilities persuade the people to swallow their extorionate rates.

I have made an earnest and continuous effort to take the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania out of the control of the public utilities, and make it a genuine servant of the people. I have not succeeded. This is partly because certain men whom I appointed to the Commission have, after their appointment, abandoned the principles they professed before. It is also because the Senate, at the urgent demand of important gang politicians, confirmed a man whose nomination I refused to send in by reason of his betrayal of public trust in the Philadelphia trolley fare case.

But the chief reason why the majority of the Public Service Commission is today the catspaw of the corporations is that men whom I removed on the ground that they were notoriously unfit to protect the public interest were put back by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, which thus took away from the Governor the same right of removal which the Supreme Court of the United States has just confirmed to the President.

But even on a Commission so constituted a fighting minority can do good work. Within the last few weeks, for the first time in its history, the minority has forced the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission to take up a case of glaring injustice to the public without a complaint and on its own initiative.

It is obvious that either the Public Service Commissions in this and other States must cease to be servants of the corporations and become the militant protectors of the people's rights, as they ought to be, and as the minority of our own Commission (whom I am proud to have appointed) is today, or the people will ultimately be forced to take over the public utilities in self-defense.

For these and for other reasons I do not recommend the abolition of the Public Service Commission. The time may come when the Commission will genuinely represent and courageously defend the people. In the meantime I suggest that the people of Pennsylvania should watch the Commission with unwavering attention, and refuse to stand in future for such betrayal of the public interest as the attempt to give the railroads a practical monopoly of bus lines through the State, and others that have been committed in the recent and remoter past. I have refused to approve charters from the Public Service Commission which would permit two large railroad companies to operate bus lines over the roads of fifty-five counties, thereby assuring them such a monopoly.

TRUCKS AND BUSSES

Pennsylvania has spent hundreds of millions of dollars for good roads. If these roads are cut to pieces by heavy busses and motor trucks which do not contribute fairly to the cost of repairs, every owner of an automobile in the State is hurt.

An eight-ton truck of the type that operates in freight caravans between our large cities now pays a maximum fee of $70 per year. The same truck in Maryland, making a daily trip between Baltimore and Frederick pays a fee of one-third of a cent per ton mile, or $970.67.

A 20-passenger bus in Pennsylvania pays a fee of $62.50. The same bus in Maryland traveling daily from Baltimore to Frederick and return pays one-eighteenth of a cent per passenger mile, or $440.45.

The Maryland rates at least approach a fair return for the damage done to the roads by trucks and busses. The fact that they pay these rates and still operate successfully in Maryland is proof enough that the present rates in Pennsylvania are wholly inadequate.

SANITARY WATER BOARD

For the first time in the history of Pennsylvania the streams of the State have been scientifically classified as to contamination by the work of the Sanitary Water Board, a new organization created by the Administrative Code. The Board has made definite working agreements with tanneries, paper mills, laundries, and other industries for experimentation at their expense which will lead to permanent improvement in the condition of many important streams.

Agreements have also been made with the States of New Jersey, New York, Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky for the prevention of stream pollution. More progress has been made toward the purification of our streams during these four years than during the entire previous history of the State.

SESQUI-CENTENNIAL COMMISSION.

This Commission, at first under the Chairmanship of Major R. Y. Stuart, later under that of Doctor Clyde L. King, both of whom undertook its duties in addition to official obligations already heavy, has done great work. It supervised the design and erection in record time of the Pennsylvania State Building, generally acknowledged to be the finest building on the grounds, and filled it with an exhibit which set forth the progress of Pennsylvania during the last one hundred and fifty years, and put the activities of the Commonwealth before its citizens more clearly and vividly than had ever been done before.

The Commission made use of the State Building also for extensive conferences and official entertainments, and the Legislature of Pennsylvania held a session there on July 5, 1926.

So far as practicable the exhibits collected in the Pennsylvania Building, and the motion pictures prepared to illustrate the activities of the State Government, will be preserved and used in illustrating and advancing the work of the several Departments.

ART COMMISSION

During this Administration for the first time the Art Commission has taken its proper place as an essential part of the State Government, and has abundantly justified its existence not only by the amount of work it has done, but by its notable contributions in bringing about more fitting and more beautiful construction by the State. Its members, who serve without compensation, have rendered a most important service to the Commonwealth.

SOME HIGH POINTS.

These are some of the things this Administration has done or tried to do. To sum up in a few words, this Administration among other things:

Has cleaned up the mess; paid off the $32,000,000 debt; established a complete budget system; and put the finances of Pennsylvania back on a pay-as-you-go basis, with plenty of money in the bank.

Has reorganized the whole State Government, except the elective departments; and made it from a haphazard unworkable jumble into an economical and effective business machine capable of real service to the people.

Has driven politics and political deadheads out of the State service and put appointments and promotions on a basis of merit instead of pull, thus getting a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent.

Has established and lived up to the principle that a public official is in duty bound to do for the people everything the law permits, not merely what the law directs; and has given a character and amount of legal service to the people never before approached in Pennsylvania.

Has stood squarely behind the Eighteenth Amendment; fought for and secured the passage of dry laws with teeth in them; outlawed and broken the power of the saloon; made the State Government dry; and used its power from first to last against law breaking bootleggers, breweries, and alcohol distilleries.

Has built more miles of road in four years than were ever built in an equal time by any highway organization in the world; expended $262,000,000 for roads without a breath of scandal; and made the State highways of Pennsylvania better, safer, and more convenient for motorists than they ever were before.

Has substituted cooperation for compulsion in its relations with local school authorities; made it possible to pay the State's contributions to school districts on the dot for the first time in many years; defended the public school system against gang politicians; and given our children better schools than they ever had before.

Has driven politics out of the State hospitals and penitentiaries; put appropriations to State aided hospitals on a basis of service rendered instead of political pull; and raised the standard of service in institutions everywhere.

Has originated and fought for the Giant Power policy for better and cheaper electrical service to all the people; and secured the establishment of modern water power laws for Pennsylvania in line with Federal policy.

Has refused to play politics with the lives and health of our working people; has taken the factory inspection service out of politics; has established a bureau to study and make safe the work of women and children; and kept down industrial accidents at a time which they are increasing in other industrial Commonwealths.

Has promoted cooperation among farmers; eradicated more tuberculosis among cattle than all previous Administrations together; protected and extended the farmer's markets; and made the food supplies of our people purer and safer than ever before.

Has developed forest protection to a point where for the first time in generations new growth in the forests of Pennsylvania exceeds the loss from fires; and secured the passage of $25,000,000 State Forest bond issue through two sessions of the Legislature.

Has taken an active part in the settlement of two anthracite coal strikes; and revolutionized the attitude of the State Government toward labor and labor problems.

Has shut nearly $800,000,000 of fraudulent securities out of Pennsylvania under the new Blue Law; and reconstructed the Department of Insurance and brought hundreds of questionable insurance companies to book.

Finally it has honestly tried to keep its pledges and from beginning to end has followed the rule that the public good comes first.

TWO ANTHRACITE STRIKES

In the fall of 1923 the entire northeastern section of Pennsylvania was threatened with industrial stagnation by a strike in the anthracite field. At the same time, since four-fifths of the anthracite mined is burned outside of Pennsylvania, the great body of anthracite users, some 40,000,000 people in the United States, were in imminent danger of having to go without their customary fuel.

After efforts by members of the National Administration had failed to effect settlement of the anthracite coal strike of that year, I deemed it my duty as the Governor of Pennsylvania to use my best efforts to secure coal for consumers. Accordingly, after prolonged negotiations at Harrisburg, in which none but Pennsylvanians took any part, the strike was settled on September 19, 1923, and a supply of anthracite for the coming winter was assured.

Immediately thereafter the operators took advantage of the terms of the settlement to exact for themselves an increased profit at the cost of an increased price to the consumer. I protested, called the Governors of the anthracite using States into conference, and secured the introduction of a bill in Congress, but the operators held to the higher price.

The second anthracite strike during this Administration began on September 1, 1925. After it became evident that the National Government intended to take no action toward settling the strike, I called a meeting in Harrisburg of miners and operators (which the operators refused to attend) and there submitted terms which were substantially the same as those upon which the strike was settled a few months later.

This strike confirmed my opinion of the anthracite operators as hard-boiled monopolists, whose sole interest in the people is what can be got out of them. My relations with the miners have given me confidence in their integrity and public spirit, which was well illustrated when during the last strike they accepted my proposal to forego any increase in wages which could not be granted without entailing an increase in price to the consumer.

THE ELECTIVE FISCAL OFFICERS

In Pennsylvania two of the State fiscal officers (the State Treasurer and the Auditor General) are elected. One (the Budget Officer) is appointed by the Governor. Under the Federal Government the President appoints all three. Four years of practical experience at Harrisburg, and many times as long with the Federal Government at Washington, have convinced me the the Federal system serves the people very much better than ours.

One result of the Federal system is that the Administration is a unit, thus immensely facilitating the public business. Another result is that the Federal finances, because of this concentration of responsibility, have been far and away better handled than those of Pennsylvania.

The theory of our system is that the elected officials will act as checks upon the Governor. In practice they are nothing of the sort. If they were, Pennsylvania would not have been $32,000,000.00 in debt, nor would the public money have been wasted on political incompetents to the extent of millions of dollars a year.

During the terms of other Governors, and during most of my term, our system has resulted in a continued succession of attacks on the Administration by Auditors General and State Treasurers. During this administration these attacks have uniformly been defeated. In every important contention, such as the refusal to recognize the Attorney General as chief law officer of the State, to recognize the Administrative Code, to pay current expenses of State Hospitals, etc., the Administration has won, but not until after the groundless opposition, the needless law suits and delays have cost the taxpayers heavily in money, have wasted months of time, and have even endangered the health and well being of inmates of public institutions.

The Budget Officer, in order to keep the Governor informed, is now obliged to duplicate much work already done by the elective fiscal officials, and to do it much better. In practical fact the condition of the public funds and the probable revenues from taxation have in every case been better understood and more accurately forecast by the appointed Budget Officer than by the elective fiscal officials. There could be no better illustration of this than the estimates of revenue made by the present State Treasurer in 1923 and 1925, which were wholly useless as a basis for the Budget because of their childish inaccuracy. Actual revenues since collected abundantly support this statement.

The Governor is and ought to be responsible for the business management of the Commonwealth. Therefore he ought, like the President, to have control corresponding to his responsibility.

Pennsylvania would be better off if all the fiscal officials were appointed, thus assuring harmony and making efficiency possible. Moreover, much needless duplication of work and expense now existing between the State treasurer and the Auditor General, such as the duplicate checking of receipts, could and would be cut out.

DEPARTMENT OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

I repeat by recommendation, which I was not the first to make, that the constitutional office of Secretary of Internal Affairs be abolished. This Department performs no public service that cannot be better done elsewhere at less cost to the taxpayers. Its work is low grade and in large part entirely useless. It is in fact little more than a refuge maintained at public expense for political incompetents. Vigorous and sustained efforts to improve its service and make this Department worth its keep have failed. The only thing to do with this costly and useless excrescence on the body politic is to remove it.

THE CONTEMPTIBLE GANGSTER.

After four years in a position to learn the facts, I am going out of office with the most hearty contempt not only for the morals and the intentions, but also for the minds of the gang politicians of Pennsylvania. Doubtless in the past there have been gang politicians of power and insight. We look for them in vain today.

The gangster as I have learned to know him, depends for his success on four things: The influence of the higher-ups, the groundless fear he often inspires, money, and cheating. Take these from him and he has nothing left. In a straight game he is lost from the start. And he would be lost in any case except for the failure of the majority of the decent citizens of the State to exercise their power through the ballot box.

The gangster is no wizard. He is powerless to play any game but his own. Because it never occurs to him to tell the people the truth, it never occurs to him that anybody else will tell the truth. From the beginning the most effective thing I could do to deceive the gang was to lay all my cards on the table and say precisely what I meant. They never got used to it.

Gang control in town, county, or State is possible only because so-called good citizens lie down. First of all gang control is minority control. Next it means that the taxpayers do not get what they pay for. The gang spends money out of the taxpayers' pockets freely for private and political ends. And not only are the taxpayers thus cheated and robbed, but what money actually does go to public purposes is ignorantly, stupidly, and wastefully spent. Gang control is a system under which the taxpayer is the goat at every turn in the road. And the money loss is the smallest part of it.

CLEAN ELECTIONS.

There is today no question more vividly before the people of the United States than election frauds. I can speak upon it from practical experience. The present Administration would never have come into office except for an error of judgment on the part of the Philadelphia gang as to how many votes they had to steal to win.

In the primary of 1922 the polls closed in Philadelphia at seven o'clock in the evening. In less than three hours the votes of the Vare-controlled river wards had been written up—obviously they could not have been counted—tabulated, painted on transparencies, and the transparencies were in procession around City hall.

It was a case of over-confidence. The gang believed that a comparatively small theft of votes was all that was necessary to insure my defeat. When, however, it was discovered that I had a chance to win, the Pittsburgh machine took three days to do what had been done in Philadelphia in three hours.

But while undoubtedly many thousands of votes were stolen, and while the count in Pittsburgh reduced my apparent majority from over fifty thousand to less than nine, the hasty returns from the Philadelphia river wards prevented the theft of quite votes enough to beat me.

After the primary I notified the leaders of the machine that I would conduct my own separate campaign unless they abandoned the corrupt and contemptible custom of assessing office holders for political purposes. Thereupon they did abandon this method of making office holders buy their positions on the installment plan.

DISFRANCHISING HONEST VOTERS.

One of the penalties we inflict on a thief is to take away his share in the government of this Commonwealth by depriving him of his vote. But when election frauds are committed it is the thief who takes away the vote of the honest citizen. Election thieves put self-respecting people on the same plane as convicted criminals so far as their votes are concerned.

Political gangsters have made Pennsylvania notorious among all the States for the disfranchisement of honest citizens by the stealing and buying of votes. Buying elections is as bad as stealing elections. Either way the people lose control of the government, and the thieves or the purchasers rule in their stead.

THE COMMISSION OF SEVENTY-SIX.

Election frauds by the political gang, especially in the counties of Philadelphia, Allegheny, and Lackawanna, became so injurious to the Commonwealth that in 1926 I called an extra session of the Legislature for the chief purpose of dealing with them. Before this extra session I laid the recommendations of the Commission of Seventy-Six, a body of men and women representative of the best in Pennsylvania. These recommendations, while not complete, covered every improvement in election laws it was thought possible to secure at that time.

But in the Legislature the same forces which had been guilty of the frauds killed the whole program. Out of the twelve bills they passed two. One of these was so changed by the gang as to make it harder instead of easier to open ballot boxes. I had to veto it. The other I signed because, although badly disfigured, it was still better than nothing.

The bills prepared by the Commission of Seventy-six would have prevented certain notorious kinds of fraud. These very frauds were committed on an extensive scale both in the primary and in the general election of 1926, and some of the politicians who had joined in killing the bills found themselves cheated as they could not have been cheated had the bills been passed. They got precisely what they deserved.

As an appendix to this message I lay before you a second report from the Executive Committee of the Commission of Seventy-six. Its principal additional recommendations provide for:

Limiting the total amount that may lawfully be spent for all purposes by or on behalf of a candidate for any office in a primary campaign. This amount is fixed at ten cents for each vote cast by his party last time for any office in the candidate's district. It compares with $1.28 spent by Senator Pepper, $0.63 spent by Congressman Vare, and $0.13 spent by me in the recent primary. Speaking generally, it would result, in the case of United States Senator, in a limit of somewhere about $100,000.

Requiring that every candidate must appoint a financial agent to whom all contributions and through whom all expenditures in his behalf must be made, and requiring that contributions and expenditures of five dollars or over shall be made by check or other order and not in cash. Thus the amount actually received, and from whom, and the amounts actually spent, and for what, would have to be reported.

Providing that watchers at elections cannot be paid, thus cutting out one of the commonest methods of buying votes.

Most important of all, providing for the forfeiture of any nomination in the contest for which either the candidate or his authorized agent breaks the law or consents to the breaking of it by others.

The buying and stealing of elections in Pennsylvania must be stopped. That is of the most vital consequence to every honest citizen. If these recommendations are accepted the scandalous expenditures which marked the last primary election will not occur again, and any candidate shown to have cheated will lose the nomination he cheated to get. That is a far more effective defense against fraud than any amount of fines or jail sentences.

WILLIAM PENN ON ELECTION FRAUDS

These recommendations are neither new nor revolutionary. Under William Penn's famous frame of Government for Pennsylvania "signed and and sealed by the Governor and freemen, the fifth day of the third month, called May one thousand six hundred and eighty-two," the 21st of the Conditional Laws reads as follows:

"That all defacers or corruptors of charters, gifts, grants, bonds, bills, wills, contracts and conveyances, or that shall deface or falsify any enrolment, registry or record within this province, shall make double satisfaction for the same; half whereof shall go to the party wronged, and they shall be dismissed of all places of trust, and be publicly disgraced as false men."

SHAMING PENNSYLVANIA.

The special interests which buy votes with excessive expenditures of campaign funds, and the politicians who steal votes in elections, have combined to bring upon Pennsylvania a dishonor which will take years to live down. I refused to support Mr. Vare in the election on the sound and proper ground that his nomination was partly bought and partly stolen, and I have no doubt that he deserves to be and will be excluded from the Senate. But whether he is or not, the mere fact that a Senator-elect from Pennsylvania is in danger of losing his seat because of scandalous expenditures in the primary and notorious cheating in the election is a bitter disgrace to this Commonwealth, and is so regarded not only by good citizens of Pennsylvania but throughout the Nation.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

The direct primary must not be destroyed. Whatever its faults, it is the one system of nomination yet devised which gives the people a chance against the politicians. Without it the women of Pennsylvania would lose their best chance to count in public affairs.

Attacks upon the direct primary in this State come principally from the men who have had a hand in debauching it. These persons (some of them in official life), whose candidates have profited by excessive expenditures of money or the stealing of votes, now demand the elimination of the direct primary because of offences that were committed against it. It is as though a man were to throw a handful of sand into delicate machinery and then complain because it no longer ran as smoothly as it should.

The reason the politicians want the direct primary abolished is because it is less trouble for them to control nominations under the convention system. That is the best of reason why the primary should be retained.

THE MEN BEHIND THE BOSS.

For many years the politics of this State has been run as a part of the business of certain great monied interests. These interests invest in politics as they do in mills or mines or banks, and for the same purpose—to make money. But instead of property they buy men and votes, favors and legislation.

What these interests buy is non-interference, tax exemption, extortionate rates allowed public utilities, and other special privileges for themselves at the expense of the people. They give the orders, and the men who take the orders are the political bosses whose names we see in the papers every day.

The real purpose of every regular political machine, therefore, is the advantage of the interests which maintain it, the profit of the men higher up.

To operate successfully, every machine, at least in cities, must have behind it two different kinds of people. First of all, it must have a body of politicians able and willing to deliver, for value received, the control of government, the unrighteous favors, and the unfair protection for the sake of which the magnates are in politics. Politicians able and willing to do these things must be corrupt.

Hence any such machine must include a body of the lowest politicians, such for example as the Mellon machine in Pittsburgh and the Mitten machine in Philadelphia actually do control—men who depend for their living and their power on liquor, crime, and vice. These are the men the magnates buy with valuable considerations, and from time to time protect against the revolt of honest citizens who would otherwise destroy them.

This is one wing of the city machine. The other consists of the respectable element. It is made up partly of the men who are so tied in with the business organization of the magnates that they profit from the existence of the machine; partly of business men who are held in fear because of their loans and credits; partly of the generally decent citizens (of whom there are many) who follow the magnates because they assume that if a man is rich enough he can do no wrong; partly of persons who cannot resist the craving to stand well with those in power; and partly of such of the ostensibly respectable elements of the community as are willing (in Pittsburgh, for example) to shut their eyes and make common cause with gangsters, vote thieves, dive-keepers, criminals, and harlots, because of the social and financial eminence of the Mellon name.

In city after city, county after county, and State after State, these double teams of the actual worst and the theoretical best put and keep the men behind the bosses in political power. For such reasons, and with such support, the machines of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and many another, spread their black hawk-like shadows over the community, borne on the two wings of eminent respectability and organized crime. And their purpose, like that of hawks, is to prey on those who are without protection.

Against this debauchery of the public conscience and despoiling of the public rights, this Administration has set its face like flint. Not only has it taken no orders from the investors in politics who heretofore have had their orders obeyed in Pennsylvania, but it has steadily used its whole power to break down magnate-owned machine control, and to get for the average citizen what he is guaranteed by the Constitutions of Pennsylvania and of the United States, but what he has not had, and that is a square deal.

NO MACHINE.

This Administration has been much criticised by its friends for failing to build up a political machine. It could never have done its work if it had. No Governor can spend his time and use his power to build a political machine, or to run it after it is built, and still give the people the kind of government they pay for.

The Governor of Pennsylvania has great power. Therefore he need neither fear nor follow anyone but the people and his own conscience. That I have tried to do. Under this Administration the authority of the Commonwealth has been employed neither in political favoritism nor in political reprisals. It has been used in the interests of all the people.

It has frequently been pointed out that men were selected for public office by this Administration who, it was said, "controlled no vote but their own." That is true. They were not chosen to control votes, but to serve the people. Few cabinets have had so little political influence. Few or none have been so well able to serve the people and the State.

This Administration has done its best to put in office men and women who were more interested in doing a good job than they were in playing politics or in holding a good job. From first to last it has held that neither time paid for by the taxpayers nor official position under the State can properly be used for political purposes.

I do not mean that I put my enemies in office. I do mean that I required my friends to prove their competence before they could be appointed.

STANDARDS.

The most dangerous thing in the public life of this Commonwealth is the debased standards of public life and public service which have been imposed upon the people, and ingrained in the thought of the people, by the investors in politics during generations of magnate-controlled gang rule. These standards lie behind all the spoils, all the cheating, all the political corruption, which have so deeply hurt the Commonwealth.

How widely these corrupt and corrupting standards have been accepted appeared when many of my friends and supporters, especially at the beginning of this administration, urged me to treat public appointment purely as spoils. They asked me to stoop in my conduct of the public business to the practices of the gang, which I and they had so vigorously condemned during the campaign.

From first to last I have, of course, steadily refused to do so. Thereby I have lost some friends. But thereby also I hope I have helped to make it clear that there are some things of more value than immediate political advantage, that campaign pledges can be kept, and that here is one Administration which regards the service of the people as more important than the personal or political profit of any man or any faction.

PURPOSE OF ADMINISTRATION.

The purpose of this Administration has been service to the people, not political success. I have not tried to make political capital for myself or any other, but to show what decent government can do for the average man.

From the day I declared my candidacy in 1922 I have had one central object, and only one. That object was to show the people of this State that the standards of public life and public service fastened upon them by long years of gang rule are false, needless, dishonest, costly, and wholly unworthy of the Keystone State.

My ambition has been to demonstrate that the Government of this Commonwealth can be run more successfully by throwing these false standards overboard, and that the people are better served when that is done. I wanted to prove that the open and honest way is the better way, that clean and unbossed government is possible in Pennsylvania, and that the gang is nothing to be afraid of. I wanted to shake the hold of bad old political habits on the minds and fears and consciences of the people.

This Administration has had three separate tasks. The first and simplest was to run the government; the next was to reconstruct the government; and the third was to fight the gang. At each of these three tasks it has done its best. It has feared no one, it has made no promises but public promises, it has gone into no deals, it has traded for no votes, and it has told the truth.

Being human, it has made mistakes. But whatever it has done, and whatever it has left undone, at least it can make honest claim to an honest effort to carry out its pledge to the people—to play fair with the rank and file. How well it has served the Commonwealth will be decided not by the politicians, not by the special interests, but by the people themselves.

CREDIT.

The chief credit for what has been accomplished during the last four years should not go to me but to the competent hard-working heads of Departments who have carried the heavy burden of producing more work for less money, and to the thousands of devoted public servants all over the State who have welcomed the opportunity to give better service to the people of this Commonwealth.

There is nothing of which I am more proud than the way the rank and file of the public servants of Pennsylvania have responded to the leadership of the new order. Without their devoted and efficient service to the Commonwealth, what has been achieved would have been utterly impossible. Gladly and gratefully I pay them this well deserved tribute.

My very special thanks are due to the Governor's Secretary and the men and women in the Governor's office, whose untiring service, day and night, Sundays and holidays, has set a standard which in nearly forty years of contact with government employes I have never seen surpassed.

These servants of the State, have done their work well. They are entitled to the commendation of the whole Commonwealth. Above all, they are entitled to protection in their positions without regard to politics so long as they continue to do their work well and are loyal to their superiors. The threats of wholesale dismissals which of late have been uttered so freely by small minded politicians, I, for one, cannot bring myself to believe.

THE EXECUTIVE MANSION.

An incoming Governor might hesitate to recommend the erection of a new Mansion, but there is no reason why an outgoing Governor should not do so if the recommendation is justified. The present mansion is not properly adapted to the uses for which it was intended, and it does not permit of official entertainments suited to the size and dignity of this Commonwealth.

A new mansion ought to be provided. I can think of no better place for it than the location suggested by Mrs. Pinchot—that now occupied by the unsightly pumping station on the river front at North Street. With Front Street behind it and the river in front, a mansion could there be built (without interfering in any way with the walks now open to the public) that would be worthy of this Commonwealth and well adapted for its purposes.

THE BEST YEARS OF MY LIFE.

These four years have been the best of my life. I have enjoyed them more than I can begin to say. There has been good fighting, and hard work. I have had the priceless support of loyal friends, and the almost equally welcome hostility of enemies whose opposition is a certificate of character and purpose.

Sometimes I have won. Sometimes I have been beaten. But win or lose, I have fought for what I believe to be right, I have fought for nothing that I was not willing to be beaten for if necessary, and I have made no fight that I would not be willing to make again under the same circumstances.

Altogether, these four years have been such as men seldom have the good fortune to enjoy. I am grateful for them beyond expression. As I leave the Governorship my most earnest hope will be that the good and pleasant work of serving the people, and the people only, will be continued unbroken by my successor, that something at least has been accomplished for the good of Pennsylvania during these four years, and that some contribution has been made toward bringing nearer the time when equality of opportunity will prevail in America.

The liberal movement to which Roosevelt gave point and power was checked when public attention was turned to the World War. Since the war that temporary check was continued because public attention was absorbed in the international questions which the war created. This gave the great industrial and financial interests their chance to consolidate their power. They seized it eagerly.

Nevertheless, and in spite of this interruption, the fight for the rights, dignities, and welfare of the American people will go on. In the unceasing conflict between plutocracy and sturdy democratic Americanism, the Americanism of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Roosevelt, the forces of reaction have won temporary victories. But true Americans everywhere indignantly reject the theory that it is the destiny of this Nation, or of any State within its borders, to be controlled by money.

Sure in the belief that the tide will turn, and turn decisively, toward the wiser ways of democracy to which our country was dedicated by noble and far-seeing men, millions of patriotic men and women are waiting to take up the progressive movement where it was interrupted, and carry it to its appointed and glorious conclusion.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 17, 1927.

The House met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God we pray as we come into this House tonight, and as we go forth from this place, beneath the heavens and the stars that Thou wouldst give us a realization of the infinity of Thy government, and help us to realize that what we do here is a part of the government of the Eternal God who sustains the sun and the moon and stars; may this thought not only make us humble but make us sincere that we may realize that however we work here as Speaker, as Legislators, that we are doing a thing in government which is ordained of God; and give unto us the true simplicity in manhood and womanhood as we live that we may live just, open, honest, clear lives, and do for this State and for our fellowmen everything we do as unto Thee.

Be with those tonight who are sick; with the members of the House and the Senate who are in sorrow, and especially bind up the broken in heart in the home in one of the Senators who was so recently called away from his position here. Now, bless the Speaker tonight, the members of this House, and all of us for Thy name's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 4, 1927.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT.

The PRESIDENT. I should feel myself amiss if I failed to take advantage of this opportunity to express my appreciation of the very kindly feeing that has existed between the the members and employes of the Senate and myself during the past four years. Coming to you as I did, a perfect stranger, it has been one of the pleasant events of my life which I shall look back to, and I want to express my personal appreciation, and wish to the members of the Senate collectively and individually, and to the employes, a long life of health, happiness and prosperity.

It is a very great pleasure at this time to introduce to the Senate its next President, who has been honored by the people of this Commonwealth in having been chosen as the Lieutenant-Governor of this the greatest Commonwealth in all these Unied States. He comes to the office well qualified by training and experience to preside over this body and over the Board of Pardons, of which he shall act as Chairman. I bespeak for him the same kindly feeling and cooperation which you have shown to me, with full satisfaction and knowledge that it will be a duty well done when his four years shall have rolled around and, like myself, he will look back with pleasure and delight to his association with the members of this most honorable body of this great Commonwealth.

I take pleasure in introducing the Honorable Arthur H. James, Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth.

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

Whereupon, the certificate of the election of the Honorable Arthur H. James, of Lackawanna County, as Lieutenant-Governor, was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate, as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, January 4, 1927.

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the fourth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the Legislature, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of said Commonwealth and upon counting the votes by a teller appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that Arthur H. James had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said Arthur H. James was declared to have been duly elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

DAVID J. DAVIS,
President of the Senate,

THOMAS BLUETT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LEE S. NORTH,
Teller on the part of the Senate.

GEORGE W. WILLIAMS,
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT.

After which the oath of office was duly administered to the Honorable Arthur H. James, Lieutenant-Governor-elect by the Honorable William M. Hargest, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Permit me to take this opportunity to express to the citizens of Pennsylvania, my sincere appreciation of the great distinction and honor that they have conferred upon me in electing me to the office of Lieutenant-Governor, the second highest in what I consider to be the greatest State of the Union, now as it always was, the Keystone State of the Republic.

The duties of the Lieutenant Governor as fixed by our Constitution are to act as Chairman of the Board of Pardons and President of the Senate.

Our Constitution provides that "No Pardon shall be granted except upon the recommendation in writing of the Board of Pardons, after full hearing upon due public notice and in open session; and such recommendations with the reasons therefor at length shall be recorded and filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth".

Much comment and criticism lead me to state my position upon that Board. The test which some minds apply is that the record of the Board of Pardons is to be judged by the number of pardons granted without reference to the nature of the applications or the number of persons convicted. It is unfair to judge of the record of a prosecuting attorney by the rule of number of convictions without reference to guilt, and for a far more cogent reason the Board of Pardons should not be judged solely on the number of pardons.

The rule which must and shall govern my official acts while acting as Chairman of the Board of Pardons shall be

First—The Protection of Society from the Criminal—and

Secondly—The prospect or hope of success of the wrong-doer readjusting himself to the standards of Society.

These rules shall govern my attitude on the Board whether many or few pardons shall be granted.

I am especially proud that it will be my privilege to preside over such a distinguished body of Public Servants as the State Senate. It shall be my sincere desire to be fair and just in my decisions, with full opportunity for debate and consideration of the important matters that shall be presented to you. Ours is a serious duty, and we all realize that our citizenry expect us to do it, not only well, but quickly. I am sure that the action of the General Assembly in fixing April 14th, 1927, as the date of adjournment, meets not only with your personal approval, but the approval of the People,—who feel that if it must be done, let it be done quickly.

We are at the threshold of a new Administration in the State's affairs, and if the vote at the November election indicates the confidence of the People, it starts on its journey with more hearty approval and good will than that of any other Governor. Having in mind that the Legislature is a separate arm of the government, with full authority and responsibility to the People, let us try to work for the common good of all our People, without regard to party or faction, so that when another four years shall have rolled around that we may say unto John S. Fisher—"Well done thou good and faithful servant"—and we shall indeed be proud that we played our part in the program.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY HOUSE THAT SENATE IS READY TO PROCEED TO INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

Mr. MacDADE, Chairman of the Committee appointed to notify the House that the Senate is ready to proceed to the inaugural ceremonies, reported that they had discharged the duties devolving upon them.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

INAUGURATION OF GOVERNOR-ELECT JOHN S. FISHER.

Whereupon,

The President and members of the Senate proceeded to the platform on the west side of the Capitol, where, in the presence of the President and President Pro Tempore, and members of the Senate and Speaker and members of the House of Representatives, the certificate of election of John S. Fisher, of Indiana, Indiana County, as Governor of the Commonwealth for the ensuing four years, was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate, as follows:

Almighty God, we thank Thee this morning as we commence the experiences of another administration, for the history of this Commonwealth, for the stability of the government of this people, for all of the honored institutions which have developed through the years of the past. We pray Thee that Thy richest benediction may abide upon the incoming Governor, that he may seek to perpetuate the glorious traditions of Pennsylvania. Bless him and all those who are associated with him in the government of this great State, and may we as members of the Senate and of the House and of the other departments of this State's government, seek to do those things which will add lustre and glory to this State which we every one of us love. Give unto us honesty of purpose; give unto us sincerity of convictions and then help us every one not only to steadfastly seek to do the things that are right ourselves but to feel in our hearts that our brother Pennsylvanians are seeking to do what they believe to be right as sincerely and as honestly as we are. May Thy blessing be upon every home represented by this House. Be with the friends and the loved ones of every one here and especially be with those who are sick or who may be in sorrow, that we may, notwithstanding our official position, be men and women with human hearts, broad sympathies and love for our fellowmen, and for those especially who may be in need for our helpfulness and cheer. All these blessings we ask in the name of the Great Father who loves all of us. Amen.

Mr. HORN offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1927.

Whereas, The Federal Estate Tax Law, as amended the twenty-sixth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, provides that the estate liable thereunder shall be credited with any inheritance tax paid by its beneficiaries to the state, or states, the credit not to exceed eighty per cent, and

Whereas, This amendment is in derogation of the rights of the states because its object is to persuade them to abandon their state inheritance tax laws in favor of statutes based on the Federal law and giving effect to a joint levy upon estates by the nation and the state, and

Whereas, The Federal tax is not required for revenue and is useful only as a means of coercing the states, and

Whereas, The policy of joint levies is contrary to the theory of this government and an aggression upon the authority, jurisdiction and independence of the legislatures of the sovereign states, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That we hereby memorialize the present Congress of the United States to repeal immediately the Federal Estate Tax provisions of the revenue law effective the twenty-sixth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, and vacate this field of taxation in time of peace,

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in Congress of the United States.

RESOLUTION.

BEST WISHES EXTENDED TO HON. JAMES V. LAFFERTY.

Mr. BLUMBERG offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1927.

Whereas, The Honorable James V. Lafferty of Philadelphia, a Member of this House during the Session of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, and one thousand nine hundred twenty-six, is now, due to ill health, confined to the Eagleville Sanitorium, Eagleville, Montgomery County, and

Whereas, During his years of service in this House, he endeared himself to his colleagues by his ever prevailing courtesy and kindly consideration toward them, and

Whereas, The many friends he made during that time are deeply grieved to know of his present condition and deplore his enforced absence from the labor of service to others which he so gladly and conscientiously performed, therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that his absence from the House as a Member is sadly missed, that his illness is deeply regretted, and that he has our best wishes for a speedy recovery and a quick return to his usual duties, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, signed by the Speaker and Chief Clerk of the House, be forwarded to the said Honorable James V. Lafferty, as a further evidence of our regard and respect for him, and our hope for a quick and complete return to him of normal health.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the report of the committee on the part of the House appointed in pursuance to Resolution No. 13, adopted February 15th, 1926.

The SPEAKER. The report will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the report as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE APPOINTED IN PURSUANCE TO RESOLUTION No. 13 INTRODUCED ON FEBRUARY 11th, 1926; ADOPTED FEBRUARY 15th, 1926.

Your Committee appointed in pursuance to Resolution No. 13, adopted February 15th 1926, begs leave to report as follows:

1. That a meeting of the Committee was held immediately following adjournment of the Legislature at which was present Messrs. Hall, Behney, Turner and Mr. Berkey Boyd, Superintendent of the Department of Property and Supplies. At this meeting the Committee outlined the need of the House for more Committee Rooms and better facilities, mainly in reference to the arrangement of telephones.

It was agreed that Mr. Boyd should survey the situation and advise whether further Committee Rooms could be procured. At the 1926 Session of the Legislature, the House had in addition to the Caucus Room on the third floor, Rooms No. 323-324, and rooms No. 521-522 on E floor, to provide for some twelve to fourteen active committees.

The meeting adjourned to meet again in the Fall of 1926.

2. A second meeting of the Committee was held at which time Speaker Bluett, Chief Clerk White, and Mr. Samuel Rambo representing the Department of Property and Supplies conferred with us.

At this time it was decided that if the Senate would give up Rooms No. 333 and No. 334 on the same floor as the Caucus Room and other Committee Rooms of the House, this would meet with the requirements for the time being, although it would not provide adequate space for all of the Committees. Owing to the fact that most of these rooms were being used between Sessions of the Legislature by the different departments and that proper space for most of these departments were not available in the Capital, your Committee feels that the House Committee should place their needs at the minimum.

To secure Senate Commitee Rooms No. 333-334 the suggestion was made to the Secretary of the Senate, Mr. Baker, that the rooms occupied by the Auditor-General's Department on the third floor over the Lieutenant-Governor's office should be vacated by them and occupied by the Senate. The Auditor General's Department have agreed to give up two of the three rooms, requesting that they be permitted to remain in one of the rooms because of the character of the work being carried on by the accountants occupying this space.

These facts were submitted to Mr. Baker, but he does not believe that the Senate can give up Rooms No. 333-334 to the House even though they secure this other space.

The House therefore convenes for the Session of 1927, with Rooms No. 521-522, No. 323 and 324 and the Caucus Room only available for the Committee work of this Session. This, in the opinion of your Committee is not sufficient room to properly care for the needs of your House Committees.

3. At the request of your Committee additional telephone booths have been placed in the small room at the south entrance to the Hall of the House. It is our recommendation that Page Boys be assigned to look after the telephone calls at all times.

The lockers of the lady members of the House which were in the room where the telephones have been installed, have been removed to the ladies waiting room in the Rotunda, giving them greater privacy and more congenial accommodation.

4. In reference to Committee Rooms, to insure proper and necessary space for the various committees to efficiently conduct the business of the Legislature, your Committee recommends that a Bill be drafted setting aside for the use of the Legislature, certain specific space in the Capital Building, which space cannot be used by any other Department or Officer of the State Government unless consent thereto be given by the Speaker of the House, where the space has been alloted to the House; or, by the President of the Senate where the space has been alloted to the Senate; such space to be occupied by such officers or departments only during the interim of Sessions of the Legislature, and to be vacated on request.

ELLWOOD J. TURNER,
Chairman,
Representative Second District, Delaware County.
JOHN A. F. HALL,
Representative First District, Dauphin County.

SPEAKER BLUETT IN THE CHAIR.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has upon his desk the Inaugural Address of the Governor of Pennsylvania, which will be spread upon the Journal of the House.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR FISHER.

Members of the Senate and House of Representatives and Citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This occasion marks the inauguration of the thirtieth Governor of Pennsylvania under the frame of government set up by the Constitution of 1790. In the course of 137 years that instrument guaranteeing to our people peace, safety and happiness has been only twice revised. In broad outlines, we are still operating under the same fundamental law which ushered in the administration of Governor Mifflin, our first Executive. Without substantial change in form of government and without change in boundary lines we have grown from a sparse population and from comparative poverty to our present populous and opulent station.

We are in the full stature and measure of a mature Commonwealth, great by every standard that may be applied as the test of a modern and enlightened State. We have triumphed over every change and vicissitude of a long and eventful history and we face our new day in full confidence of the strength and perpetuity of our free institutions.

We view our general situation with no small degree of satisfaction. We are benefiting from the reactions of national and international peace. Economic inequalities due to war are straightening out. All forms of business have so adjusted themselves to the new order that the distress and perplexities of a few years ago are disappearing. We are thinking in terms of peace and applying all our energies to the problems of peace. This is in harmony with the normal life of our people. In the beginning we were dedicated to the ideals of peace and we have persistently proceeded on the principle that a society such as ours must find its highest material usefulness and development in industrial pursuits and the arts of civilization. It is true we have enshrined our battlefields and erected monuments to our heroes, but these noble testimonials simply bear mute witness to the sacrifices made for tthe universal and permanent peace of mankind.

Upon taking the prescribed oath of office the first duty imposed upon me is one of custom. I conform to a long line of precedents in addressing this inaugural to the members of both Houses of the Legislature and this great assemblage who typify the presence of all the people. This is more than part of an impressive ceremonial and much more than a compliment to one who has been newly clothed with the powers and dignities of high office. It is the first act of the Executive in recognition of his official relations with the co-ordinated Legislative branch of the Government and is delivered in this open and public manner in token of the sovereeignity of the people of Pennsylvania. By the will of the people I have been honored and charged with great responsibility. I am deeply sensible of the trust that was so emphatically expressed in the call to public service. Such a demonstration of confidence is a challenge to the best that is in any man. I approach the great and perplexing duties of office with humility, but with a firm resolution, under Divine guidance, to apply all the strength with whish I am endowed to keep the vows I have just taken and the pledges I have made to the people.

The Government of Pennsylvania has grown into one of the greatest busiess organizations in the United States. Its annual expenses are in excess of $120,000,000 a year and the efficient management of this tremendous outlay is an exceptionally grave responsibility placed upon your Governor by its more than 10,000,000 stockholders, all of whom are vitally interested.

Few of us realize to what proportions we have developed. Governor Mifflin had at his disposal the first year of his administration total revenues of $249,538. One hundred years later Governor Beaver met public needs with $8,625,000. Now our requirements exceed $120,000,000 a year with constant pressure for the expansion of public service.

The financial problems of the Commonwealth call for the consideration of the public as well as public officials. Revenues must care for the growing demands of a fast developing State. Needs can be met only by direct taxes or through issues of bonds. Debts once contracted must be paid by tax levies. Our present tax system through its flexibility has functioned admirably to meet changing conditions. I am opposed to new taxes unles justiled by emergency and caution against any new public undertakings requiring additional imposts. Of course I recognize the prerogative of the Legislature to provide ways and means, but it will be my duty to keep the expenditures within revenues so that the credit of the Commonwealth shall not be impaired. The old fashioned deficiency is outlawed.

Good results of the budget system in the State Government are apparent, but detailed comment will be reserved until such time as I shall transmit the budget for the 1927-29 biennium to the Legislature. It has developed certain conditions demanding some form of treatment. Making a budget is a gigantic task of infinite detail. An incoming Governor is required by law to submit his budget within four weeks after the assembling of the Legislature. This is impossible unless the budget is prepared unofficially in advance.

Budgeting can not be perfected under the restrictions of the present Constitution. All appropriations other than those in the general bill must be be made by separate measures embracing but one subject. Appropriations to charitable and educational institutions not under absolute State control require the vote of two thirds of the members of each House. The Governor should be given ample time and the necessary means to handle this compilation of financial data and study the needs of the Government. The Legislature should be empowered to make appropriations to classes of institutions rather than to individual establishments, to be distributed in conformity with the standards of service prescribed by law. These difficulties only add emphasis to the inconvenience of inaugurating a Governor at the opening of a session of the Legislature. Accurate budgeting is of such supreme importance to the conduct of the public business that I strongly urge constitutional amendments to correct the situations to which I have referred.

It is the province of Government to establish the rules under which the operations of public service companies shall be carried on efficiently, wisely and fairly. In the natural sequence of events utilities developed in advance of governmental regulation. Out of the uncontrolled freedom of the early stages of the business there naturally arose abuses. It was to correct these and prevent their recurrence that instruments for supervision were fashioned by both the Nation and the States. Some times they were created under strong reactions of popular resentment and were carried to unwise extremes, but in the main their influence has been salutary. Proper regulation has proven as beneficial to business as to the public. The Public Service Commission of our Commonwealth is the agency established by the Legislature to deal with public utility problems, and should be organized, sustained and equipped to carry out its functions of assuring to the people adequate service at reasonable rates.

Construction of the State Highway System must be kept moving. While we have accomplished much, there remains much to be done. The primary system has been completed or is under contract. A large portion of it, however, was built years ago when we were in the early experimental stage with inferior materials and insufficient trackage. Our roads may have been all right then but conditions have been revolutionized and needs have grown enormously. Defective construction must be replaced, problems due to congestion worked out, the secondary system carried to completion and hard roads built into rural communities, all as rapidly as the means at hand will permit. The last bond issue has been exhausted. Another is proposed, but even if it be aporoved the proceeds will not be available until 1929. This forces us to depend upon current revenues. First consideration must be given to interest and the sinking fund requirements of the several bond issues and to the maintenance of roads already built. There are dedicated to road purposes the income from motor license fees, a large part of the gasoline tax and the subsidies from the Federal Government. These items aggregated $71,000,000 in the two years about to close. In the two years coming the interest and sinking fund requirements will consume $14,000,000 of these special funds. It is apparent that allotments of State money to counties for secondary road work to be matched by them in order that the program of building may proceed without serious interruption will be possible only by a small increase in the gasoline tax.

More stringent measures must be enacted for the safety of the highways and protection of the people. The number of accidents and the resulting loss of life are appalling. Drunken drivers, criminal carelessness and disregard for the rights of others are menaces which must be eliminated.

State roads were not designed as trunk lines for heavy freight. There must be no monopoly of the peoples' highways and neither shall they be destroyed by improper use.

Uniform traffic regulations are desirable, but in establishing them the greatest care should be taken that what is suitable for one community is not made burdensome to another.

All classes of State owned institutions are pleading for repairs, additions and equipment. In many cases the need is immediate and insistent. We must not neglect the thousands of our citizens who are unfortunate and suffering. I recommend such measures for present relief as the public means will afford. However, I want to emphasize the fact that nothing is more important than a realization by our people that the time is approaching when their hospitals and charities with which the State has dealt so generously should receive a greater measure of home support.

I propose, with as much expedition as possible, to make a survey of the Normal schools, State hospitals, penal and correctional institutions, homes and asylums, to determine their condition and needs and to formulate a plan for their rehabilitation. This will require large outlays but the work can be done during a period of years and the cost so distributed as not to be unduly burdensome.

The great bridge east of the State Capitol designed as a memorial to the men and women of Pennsylvania who participated in the World War has been started and should be carried to completion. It is an appropriate tribute of a grateful Commonwealth to her latest contribution to the generations of patriots who have upheld the honor of the nation.

The departments designed to protect workers in industry are reasonably adequate with the exception of the Department of Mines. Since the mining codes were enacted the coal industry has undergone great changes and the distinctions between the anthracite and bituminous fields have become more and more marked. I believe this department should be expanded into two distinct bureaus with separate jurisdiction over each field. I also recommend that the scope of the department be broadened to deal with all matters relating to the mining, marketing and transportation of coal products. This industry is so vital to the prosperity of the State that it should be fostered in every way. At the same time, the 250,000 miners who hazard their lives in a calling attended with unusual dangers should be protected with scrupulous care.

The Workmen's Compensation Law needs readjustment. Of many humane measures adopted for the welfare of the employed in industry, none has been more beneficial than this act. It has stopped immeasurable loss in litigation, has increased the regard of the employer for the health and safety of the worker and has brought comfort and support to thousands who have suffered through injury or loss of life in employment.

Education deserves special reference. William Penn's original plan of Government was based upon the theory of universal education. We have been long in realizing his ideal, but pennsylvania now has a complete and comprehensive system of free schools. The law has done all that can reasonably be expected of it. There remains only the making of proper provision for support and intensive administration of the Department of Public Instruction. The aim should be to make education practical and easily available to the communities benefitted. I shall continue to encourage and develop institutions of learning that the youth of Pennsylvania shall be trained effectively for the duties of life and our country be served by the highest standards of citizenship.

Accumulations of the thrift and industry of the people should be made absolutely safe. They are gathered in huge amounts in savings accounts. building and loan associations and insurance companies. The banks are adequately supervised, but more thorough provision should be made for safeguarding building and loan and insurance investments. I commend to the Legislature careful consideration of this subject. The Insurance Department should be strengthened to render the best possible service to the people.

The people of Pennsylvania have been protected from enormous losses through the operation of the Investment Securities Act. Perhaps no single statute ever accomplished its design more completely. While permitting a large measure of freedom to legitimate investments it has been effective in preventing the unscrupulous from filching the savings of our people. Nothing should be done to impair its usefulness or weaken its administration.

I believe in law observance and law enforcement. The Eighteenth Amendment and attendant prohibitory laws will be respected by all law abiding citizens and made effctive by every public official. I shall do my duty and I expect the co-operation of the judiciary, all civil officials charged with the maintenance of law and order and the police departments of all communities.

Those who are guilty of making and distributing for beverage purposes alcoholic liquors containing deadly poisons will be subjected to every rigor of the law. It is just as much murder to kill with poisoned beverages as to kill in any other way. The law should be made adequate to the offence.

I shall use my utmost endeavor to check and eliminate crime. I so promised as a candidate. That promise will be kept. It must be borne in mind that the Chief Executive, with all his power, is helpless without the cooperation and aid of other agencies of Government. Many of the criminal laws and practices of our State are inadequate and obsolete.

I do not believe that the number of criminals is increasing proportionately with the growth of population, but the modern criminal is so highly specialized that he has become a vastly greater menace to society. He has reduced the commission of crime to scientific exactitude. He requisitions every modern device and weapon to aid in his nefarious business. There are needed better methods of detecting, apprehending, trying and punishing criminals.

Question recently has been raised as to the wisdom of the Primary election system. It has been subjected to serve tests. Many are honestly doubting its state-wide usefulness in populous communities. Objection is made that it is too expensive and cumbersome. At the time of the adoption of this system I was one of those who questioned its extension to State offices. I believed in its virtue when used in smaller political units where the people had the opportunity to know candidates at first hand. However, the state-wide primary was adopted and has been in effect since 1913. In the main I think it must be admitted that it has been satisfactory to the people. I doubt the advisability of making any change until the system has been further tested and public opinion has directly expressed tself on this vital and fundamental matter. It is easily within the possibilities to amend the law so as to obviate, or, at least, minimize the faults which have developed under extreme conditions.

The ballot is the most sacred privilege of democracy. Through it is expressed the final will of the people. It should be guarded as something priceless to our perpetuity. I favor the enactment and enforcement of such laws as will insure the free use and fair count of the ballot of every qualified voter.

Action of the General Assembly in designating a day in middle April for fial adjournment has my hearty approval and is a pledge to the people that the work of the Legislature will be undertaken promptly, carried through vigorously and completed early. There is no occasion for a multiplicity of new laws. The few subjects to which I have called the attention of the members of the two Houses are of such a nature that they may be disposed of speedily.

I repeat my former pledges to observe and enforce in the conduct of the business of the State strict integrity, a high state of eficiency, and a rigid economy; to administer the powers of Government for the benefit of all citizens; to reduce and systematize the cost of tax collection; to give all possible aid and support to agriculture; to encourage the extension of rural electric service; to conserve our natural esources to protect the waters of the Commonwealth from unnecessary pollution; to push forward the program of reforestation; to preserve the wild life of our forests and streams; to stimulate every deartment and agency of Government to its full functioning power; to recognize the independence and dignity of the co-ordinate branches of Government and work in harmony with them for the public welfare; to apply common sense as the guide to all activities and to devote my full time, energy and capacity to the duties of office.

RESOLUTION.

Senator Marvin E. Griswold has passed from time to eternity. At a time when he had reached the fullness of his mental powers and of his usefulness to his community, he was called away. From such as he comes inspiration to those who seek success in its worthiest form.

He gave his chosen city abundantly of his talent and manifested his faith by a life time of genuine service within it. He will be missed as a citizen, as a commercial leader as a true and kindly associate.

The Rogers Israel Post No. 11, the American Legion, pauses in its activities to pay tribute to him and to enroll him high in the record in achievement.

FELICITING HONORABLE ALEXANDER COLVILLE UPON HIS HONORABLE BIRTHDAY.

Mr. SOWERS offered a resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1927.

Whereas, Fourscore years ago from Wednesday last,

there was ushered into this world one who now sits among us, serving his seventh term as a Member of this House, and

Whereas, in spite of the eighty years that now lie behind on life's highway, over which he has so honorably trod, he is alert in mind and body and well able to take an active part in the business of the Session, and

Whereas, one who has by right living so well preserved the physical and mental faculties with which he was endowed by Divine Providence, is justly entitled to the respect and admiration of his colleagues, therefore be it

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaner, I desire to have the privilege of yielding to my colleague the Hon. Alexander Colville, of Philadelphia.

Mr. COLVILLE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen, members of this Assembly, I was not aware that I had been born a week before this resolution would designate. I will not have arrived at the eightieth milestone of life's journey until next Wednesday. It is with a deep feeling of gratitude January and the good Lord the Creator of us all has accorded me in this resolution of your felicitations.

I was born eighty years ago on the twenty-sixth day of January and the good Lord the Creator of us all has accorded me most excellent health in all my journey through life. Now, as I have been reminded by this resolution that I am about on the decent of life's pathway, I will go down with a feeling that I am carrying with me the good words and the fine expressions that have been given me through this resolution and the adoption thereof.

I will always think of you in the best terms possible. While I am standing here, Mr. Speaker, I recall my entrance on the floor of this House in 1899, and seeing before me some of the most excellent men that have passed on. They were men of great character, ability and affection, and it is one of the grandest things within my memory that I can think of them as most loyal, excellent, learned friends as they sat before me and I see them now in my vision. We had some most excellent men then just as we have here tonight. I will always carry with me the thought of the excellent men that have been my associates.

Thank you one and all for these testimonials.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION NO. 1

Mr. HORN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up resolution No. 1.

The SPEAKER. The Resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the Resolution as follows:

Whereas The Federal Estate Tax law as amended the twenty-sixth day of February one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six provide that the estate liable thereunder shall be creditd with any inheritance tax paid by its beneficiaries to the state or states the credit not to exceed eighty per cent and

Whereas This amendment is in derogation of the rights of the states because its object is to persuade them to abandon their state inheritance tax laws in favor of statutes based on the Federal law and giving effect to a joint levy upon estates by the nation and the state and

Whereas The Federal tax is not required for revenue and is useful only as a means of coercing the states and

Whereas The policy of joint levies is contrary to the theory of this government and an aggression upon the authority jurisdiction and independence of the legislatures of the sovereign states therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That we hereby memoralize the present Congress of the United States to repeal immediately the Federal Estate Tax provisions of the revenue law effective the twenty-sixth day of February one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six and vacate this field of taxation in time of peace

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I have before me a copy of the Reading Times of last Friday morning, January 21st, in which appears the following front page article: "Tragic Treatment of Insane Blamed upon Legislators. Philadelphia Psychiatrist Flays Them at Dinner of Public Charities Association Here," and then the article proceeds as follows:

"The greatest tragedy in Pennsylvania today is our shameful treatment of the insane and the mentally diseased.

"The reason for this neglect lies with our Legislators, who are themselves afflicted with a type of insanity known as 'exaggeration of the ego.' Once they get seated in office, they think they know everything about everything.

"The Speaker Dr. Daniel J. McCarthy, Philadelphia, Psychiatrist, who spoke in behalf of the $50,000,000.00 bond issuance at last evening's dinner of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, in Berkshire Hotel."

Now, members of the House, this statement is so intemperate and so wholly irresponsible that I should have ignored it entirely and not paid any attention to it were it not for the fact that it has given the widespread impression that the members of this House are opposed to the $50,000,000.00 loan for the rehabilitation of our charitable and penal institutions.

What are the facts in the case? I have taken the trouble of looking up the records and I find that the records are as follows:

The Joint Resolution providing for this loan passed this House in 1925 by unanimous vote. If you will refer to the Legislative Journal of April 15, 1925, on page 3838, you will find the vote there recorded, and the vote is 176 to 0. There was not a single vote in this House cast against the $50,000,000.00 Joint Resolution.

In the Senate the records are as follows: In the Journal of April 6, 1925, page 2893, you will find the vote of the Senate recorded, 43 to 1. The only member in both branches that opposed this resolution was Senator Woodward of Philadelphia, who is recorded as voting "no." He himself happens to be a Philadelphia doctor, so this apparently seems to be a case where doctors disagree.

Personally I think that this was only one of those oratorical flights, oratorical thrusts, in which public speakers indulge in order to draw a good round of applause out of their audience, and I think it served that purpose. I am inclined to believe that the members of the Public Charities Association who were present at that dinner so understood it, but when this language was reduced to cold type and appeared on the front page of the local newspaper it had a different aspect. I find that it has widely created the impression down in our section that both houses have been opposed to the passage of this Joint Resolution which is entirely contrary to the fact. As all of you older members know it has been customary for years for men who come here and ask for money to abuse the members of the Legislature when they do not get what they ask for, but here is a case where everything that has been asked for has been granted, and has been granted so unanimously. I do not wish to indulge in any argument over this matter, but simply to bring out the facts so that the public may know the real facts and judge accordingly.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. Inasmuch as the Committees have now been appointed and bills have been referred to the different committees, the Chair wishes that the committees would organize and meet to consider the bills as soon as possible, so that we can get the bills reported out which should be reported out favorably and have them upon our calendar, so that we can start our work in earnest. After the session tonight, the Speaker would like to meet the Rules Committee in his office for a few minutes.

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee this bright morning; the day always follows night, the peace always follows war and the joy always follows sorrow. The sorrow may endure for a night but joy cometh in the morning.

May this be the experience of every one of us here today, and make it possible for us to endure, knowing that no matter what burdens we may be called upon to carry, through what dark valleys we may pass, or what struggles we may have that these always end in joy and happiness and peace.

Be with us each one this day and bless us in our own personal life and guide us in what we do. Help us to be helpful to others, to never lose our human interest and human touch, but keep us true and loyal to our friends in every emergency in life. And now may Thy rich blessing be upon us all as we commence this bright day's work; we ask in Thy name. Amen.

Session 1927 — 127th of the General Assembly

Vol. 10. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 31, 1927 No. 6

SENATE.

MONDAY, January 31, 1927.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Arthur H. James) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Acting-Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, help us to realize amid the confusion and turmoil and strife of this world that all wisdom and power are with Thee, that the means for carrying on Thine eternal government are infinite, that while we are limited in our power and in our means of conducting government and enforcing our laws, every power abides in the hands of the Infinite.

May this thought give unto each one of us an abiding sense of the security of Thy government, that the hand that guides and upholds all nature will guard and guide His children well.

Abide with this Senate to-night. Be with the members. May these Senators feel the presence of the Infinite Power, and may each one realize that all government, delegated or otherwise, is of God, and that in governing we are performing the function of God himself.

Abide with us now, and bless us. We ask in Thy name. Amen.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, help each one of us tonight amidst the narrowness and littleness of our human lives, to realize the heights of our knowledge of Thee as our Father. We cannot comprehend what is means for we creatures of Thine, limited as we are, to call the infinite and the eternal God, the guide and Governor of all things, our Father, and especially those of us who realize what fatherhood means, to have that fatherhood increased to infinity in love, in tenderness and in mercy, in everything that goes to make up the ideal even of a human father's heart. So tonight, here in this place, as we commence this session, may we transcend in thought that the infinite God is our Father. Give us dignity, give us honor and give us respect for all of the work which we try to do with some of the attributes of our Father in our hearts. We ask Thy blessing upon us all, for Christ's sake. Amen.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr Speaker, before the members vote on this resolution I would ask that this resolution be not adopted for the reason that the information under this resolution with reference to the graduated increase is unnecessary, because the bill will be recommitted back to the committee for the reason that it has been discovered that the particular bill which you have on your calendar, House Bill No. 64, is not constitutional by reason of the fact that it provides for a graduated increase. In substitution therefor, a bill was introduced tonight by myself in which there is a general increase without a graduated plan. Therefore the information under this resolution will become unnecessary, and for that reason I ask that the resolution be not adopted.

RESOLUTION POSTPONED.

Mr. BALDRIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I move that action on this resolution be postponed for the present.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1927 — 127th of the General Assembly

VOL. 10 — HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1927 — No. 7

TUESDAY, February 1, 1927.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Arthur H. James) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Acting Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for this bright springtime morning; and we pray Thee that some of the brightness and some of the limitless grace of Thy love may abide in our hearts.

Be this day with us, to teach us the sacredness of duty, the sacredness of living and the responsibilities which we owe to each other. Help us in all of the work which we do publicly, nevertheless, to remain with our human sympathies.

Wilt Thou especially, this day, be in the home of the member of this Senate into which the dark shadow of death has come. Grant that this may be in that home as winter and darkness and as night are in this world before the dawning, the breaking away from that which is sad and that which is sorrowful, the happiness and peace which can abide even in life's hours of darkness and sorrow.

Be with this Senate to-day in all that it does, and with each one of us as men and women. We ask in Thy name. Amen.

An act to provide for a second additional law judge of the court of common pleas of the thirty-second Judicial district.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I feel that some explanation should be made as to the introduction of the bill now under consideration, as well the companion bill numbered 60. I have in my possession, and I shall present to the clerk for transcription into the Journal, the report of the Delaware County Bar Association, which Association, since last June, has been investigating the business of the courts in the County of Delaware,—commonly known as the Thirty-second Judicial District,—canvassing the situation to ascertain if there were any necessity for additional judges in that county. After an exhaustive examination of the record they came to the conclusion, unanimously,—irrespective of political beliefs or otherwise—that there was a great necessity in our county for two additional law judges. And they had before them the opportunity to present a report that perhaps there is the necessity for only one additional law judge in addition to the judges comprising the court at present.

That report is voluminous, and in it we can catch just a few thoughts: The County of Delaware, according to the United States census for 1920, had a population at that time approximating 175,000 persons. Since then the County of Delaware has grown so rapidly in population that has now approximately 300,000 persons within its borders. And, to give you some idea of the extent of building operations in the county, in one district alone there were five thousand dwelling houses erected during the past year.

The judges of the county are of the opinion that they should have, for the proper dispatch of judicial business, two additional judges. Their thought, as well as that of the Delaware County Bar Association, is supported by the press of Delaware County,—usually representing public opinion; and I have the editorials here, and will ask that they be put into the record.

Also, organizations of various kinds have endorsed this movement.

The purpose of introducing two bills on the same subject should also have a word of explanation. Upon consultation with the Governor of the Commonwealth as to the necessity for additional judicial service in Delaware County, he stated that he would like to have the matter presented in two bills, one providing for one additional law judge and the other providing for two additional law judges for the county, so that if the bill or bills should pass the Legislature he could determine his function as Governor of the Commonwealth whether to approve or veto a bill or the bills. And it is following that interview, with our understanding of the Governor's wishes in the matter, that the two bills were presented,—so that if he should come to the conclusion eventually that we should have only a second additional judge—having already secured an additional judge in Delaware County in 1900—he would be in a position to sign the bill providing for a second additional judge, but if he should be convinced, by reason of the reports and the unanimous opinion of my constituents, that there should be two additional judges at this time, then he would also have before him a bill which would provide for two additional judges. On the other hand, if he should have before him just one bill providing for two additional judges, then he would not have the opportunity to reduce the number of judges to be added in case he should be of opinion that there should be one additional law judge in the County of Delaware at this time but not two.

So I thought it was due to you, Fellow Members, that I explain why there are companion bills upon this calendar for third reading; and I hope that you will agree with me,—and I am absolutely impersonal about that. It has been suggested that possibly I might be a candidate for judicial honors in that county, but let me assure you that I have not made any formal announcement; and if I were to make such an announcement in due time it would mean that I would be a candidate for an office already created, and not that I would be a party to any legislation to create any office whereby I should be a beneficiary.

I trust that the gentlemen, and also the good lady, of the Senate will see my viewpoint of the situation, endorsed by all elements of the county including the judges, and which I believe will be eventually by the Governor of the Commonwealth; and that you will support the bill now under consideration.

To the President of the People's Association: Your committee, appointed to study the question as to whether the number of judges in our county should be increased, recommends that the following statement be adopted:

The Delaware County Bar Association recently decided to ask the members of the Legislature to press earnestly and urgently for the creation of two additional Common Pleas Judges for our county, so that there may be sitting almost all the time three judges for actual trial work and another judge to attend to miscellaneous matters and to write opinions.

This action was taken on the recommendation of a committee which presented, in its report, a comprehensive collection of facts and arguments in support of its recommendation. Through the kindness of the chairman of that committee, Harry J. Makiver, Esquire, that report has been made available to the People's Association. A copy of that report accompanies this statement.

In addition to the arguments in that report there is a weighty additional argument which may be stated as follows:

There should be a sufficient number of judges so that their time and energy will not be completely used up on the necessary routine matters of the office, because there is a very valuable public service which can be rendered by our judges much better than by any other citizens; namely, to make first-hand studies of the facts of criminology and penology and to participate in attempts to solve the problems of those sciences.

In particular, they, in cooperation with the District Attorney's office, could study the cause of crime and ways of preventing it, the methods of detection of criminals and the whole procedure for the trial of suspected criminals. In cooperation with the Prison Board and the Warden, they have a special opportunity to study the best methods of handling criminals after they have been convicted, including the subjects of probation, parole and prison management. In the Juvenile Court the varied problems of child delinquency come before them and in the Desertion Court the abnormalities of domestic relations are presented.

In fact no other citizens have such valuable opportunities to study this whole category of problems, the solution of which is much needed in our present-day civilization.

For this reason, as well as for the reasons given in the Bar Association Committee's report, the People's Association recommends that the Legislature create two additional judgeships for our county and urges the members of the Legislature from this county to press for the passage of such legislation.

Respectfully Sumitted,

GEORGE GAILEY CHAMBERS,
Chairman.

January 24, 1927.

George T. Butler, Esq., Pres. Delaware County Bar Association, Media, Pennsylvania.

My dear Mr. Butler:—At a meeting of the Bar Association held on June 22, 1926, a resolution was passed, directing the chairman to appoint a committee to investigate and report upon the necessity of additional judge or judges for the Courts of Delaware County.

In pursuance of said resolution, you appointed H. J. Makiver, J. De Haven Ledward, E. Wallace Chadwick, William B. McClenachan and Robert W. Beatty.

Your Committee has, individually and collectively, given the matter considerable attention and thought, and have interviewed members of the Bar and the Judges of our Courts.

From our investigation of the records of the Courts, we find from the Appearance Docket the number of items are increasing each year, and that this business has increased in this item alone six fold in eighteen years, and the following is a statement of the number of cases on the docket:

1908		1430
1913		1705
1918		2414
1921		4514
1922		4790
1923		5960
1924		7651
1925		8841
1926	(3 terms)	7465

From our investigation of the trial list in the Common Pleas Court, we find that these cases have tripled in ten years, and show as follows:

1915	325
1918	415
1920	578
1921	639
1922	659
1923	683
1924	744
1925	980
1926	838

From our investigations of the trial list of criminal cases, we find the following cases have been up for trial:

1920	580
1921	645
1922	660
1923	769
1924	744
1925	553
1926	539

The number of desertion cases for a period of five years were 645 and many of these cases were given the second and third hearing, so it is fair to assume that the number tried were close to 1000 in a period of five years or an average of 200 per year, and these are increasing rapidly, as the population is getting greater.

On the Equity List for the year 1926, there were 44 cases and on the Argument List for the year 1926, there were 309 cases.

There is a Motion List held every Friday morning, in which there are from fifty to one hundred matters to be disposed of, many of them being Masters' Reports in divorce cases, and other causes of argument and taking of testimony, which require consideration and time by the Court.

Naturalization Court held four times each year, at which there are an average of 150 applicants for naturalization at each Court.

Juvenile Courts are held at various times during the year, in which there are many delinquents, requiring attention and a great deal of the time of the Courts during the year.

There are three weeks of criminal Courts four times a year, making twelve weeks in which the Court is in continuous session, hearing the criminal cases.

The Court calendar for the year 1927, shows continuous Court from January 3, 1927, until July 7, 1927, thereby continuous Court will have been held from September 20, 1926, to July 7, 1927.

Commencing again on September 19, 1927, there will be continuous sessions as in the past until the first Monday of July, 1928.

There are twenty-two weeks of Civil Court in a year and two Judges cannot dispose of more than 175 to 200 cases, if they were to give most all their time without considering the work in other Courts.

There are five weeks consumed in Argument and Equity Lists.

The Grand Jury meets four times a year, and during that time miscellaneous cases of various characters are attended to by the Court, which makes a total of forty-three weeks of the year, in which the Court is in actual session, and during which the Court does not have any time to write opinions and consider other cases and attend to the various other duties they are called upon to do.

There are nine weeks through the Summer when the Court finds it impossible to conduct either Criminal or Civil Cases, on account of vacations of lawyers and attachees of the Court, but during this time, one Court is always accessible, and is continuously occupied with current affairs.

During the last five or six years they have been calling upon Judges from nearby Counties to try cases, and during this period there has been one and many times two during the Civil List of twenty-two weeks; and they have also assisted in the Criminal and miscellaneous Courts.

Your Committee feels that our present Judges are energetic and industrious, and they are doing everything that is possible to keep up with the work and assisting the members of the Bar in every way to have their cases disposed of, but on account of the great multitude of cases arising, the work is being increased instead of being decreased.

Our Judges do not have an idle moment from the Third Monday of September until the First Monday of July, yet with all their labor and industry, it is a physical impossibility for them to keep up with the great increase of work.

The Census of the County in 1920 was 173,084, and it is fair to presume at this period in 1926, that the population in the County is over 250,000, and is increasing by the thousands a year, as we join the City and County of Philadelphia and there are thousands of people coming into the County each day, which adds to the Civil and Criminal work of the Courts.

The increase in the number of automobiles has necessarily brought about an increase of litigation both in contract and in tort. There is no reason to assume that this business will decrease, but on the other hand, it is fair to believe that litigation will increase.

Without attempting to compare this County with other Counties of like population, we venture to say that with the close proximity to Philadelphia, and the great increase of population and the passing of the main arteries of travel through this County, the ratio of increase of business is greater than any other County in the State, yet some of these Counties have three and five Judges.

Your Committee is satisfied that it is a physical impossibility for two Judges to dispose of the volume of business now actually before our Courts with the dispatch to which parties litigant are entitled, and that the delays which unavoidably occur with over-crowded dockets and under-manned Courts seriously interfere with the administration of justice, unduly penalize litigants, and bring the administration of law into an unmerited disrepute. Entirely aside from this very vital consideration, there is a professional aspect of the matter which we cannot ignore. Delaware County has always been proud of its Courts and their judicial decisions, but unless sufficient time is afforded for the Judges to give mature and careful consideration to each of the many important problems brought before them, the high standards which we desire to maintain will necessarily be lowered.

The natural feelings of the Judges themselves are also entitled to consideration; they are keenly alive to their responsibilities and commendably anxious to dispose of matters in a manner which will be creditable, not only to their County and Bar, but to themselves, and it would be a vital mistake if the effort of these Judges, and any who will sit with them, must be frustrated because they are numerically too few to grapple with the great volume of important litigation coming before them.

We, therefore, beg to report to the Bar Association, that after full consideration of all matters, that we should ask the members of the Legislature to earnestly and urgently press for the creation of two additional Commonpleas Judges for our County, so that there may be sitting almost all the time three Judges for actual trial work and the other Judge be in position to attend to miscellaneous matters and write opinions.

Respectively submitted:

Editorial of Chester Times, Tuesday, January 25, 1927.

TWO NEW JUDGES NEEDED

The request of the Delaware County Bar Association for two additional judges here is timely and just. We have long since passed by the day when members of the bench allotted to this county can take care of the great mass of work that every year is being thrust upon them in increasing proportion. We needed additional judges several years ago. Certainly we more need them now.

Few persons realize the extent of increase in the number of cases that are handled each year at Media Courthouse.

According to the committee from the Bar Association which made the survey resulting in a recommendation to the Legislature for additional members of the judiciary, there are today six times as many cases tried annually at the county seat as there were in 1908. Six hundred per cent increase in eighteen years with no commensurate increase in the number of judges to care for all that business, is a situation that cries aloud for remedy and relief.

According to the bar committee's report we are confronted with the amazing spectacle of continuous sessions of court from September to next July. Judges are obliged to work all day. They have little or no time to prepare decisions which demand research and application. It is manifestly impossible, certainly highly improbable that the present number of judges can care for all that work. Because of the unfair situation with which the judges of Delaware county are confronted through no fault of their own, the obvious conclusion must be that even if a reasonable number of decisions are to be handed down each year, some of them must be arrived at without having benefited by the full amount of consideration they merit. A lowering of court standards is the last thing to be desired. This county always has and still stands high in the records of the state for the proportionately few of its court decisions that have met with reversals in higher tribunals.

Our case when brought to the attention of the State Legislature by Senator Albert Dutton MacDade, who will present the bill for more judges, cannot help but have weight with both Houses of our law-making body. An act has been prepared authorizing the additional jurists. It ought to be passed, and there is every reason to believe that the Senate and House will approve the request from this district. The Delaware County Bar Association deserves credit for its persistence in forcing this issue. Its committee in charge of the matter has shown a vital need by presenting nothing more than actual facts. There is no need for much oratory to make them impressive. They speak for themselves.

January, Twenty-eighth, Nineteen Twenty-seven.

Honored sir:—At a recent meeting of the above-named organization, composed entirely of men who served their country in time of need, and all residents and voters in the City of Chester, the following was presented and unanimously passed:

Resolved, That we, as citizens and taxpayers, in the City of Chester, Delaware County, realizing the necessity of expediting the work of the Courts of said Delaware County and relieving the present Judges from the arduous tasks that are imposed on them by the antiquated laws and methods that were enacted for the County when it was populated by about only one-half the size of its present citizenship, and the subsequent increase in crime, with no increase in the number of Judges. we earnestly urge that you, as well as the other representatives from this County use your every effort to have the bill creating two additional Judgeships for Delaware County, introduced by yourself, become a Law at the present session of the Legislature.

Trusting that the above Resolution meets with your approval and that your efforts in this matter wlil be successful, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

MONTE S. MONTAGUE,

Adiutant.

Almighty God we thank Thee for this bright cheerful morning, with the promise of Springtime; that even amid the ice and cold of the winter that is past Thou art giving to us the promise of the days that are to come. May we feel as see the development of Thy plan in nature about us; may each one of us realize our need and dependence upon Thee; that however much we can do for ourselves, however much we can do for each other, we need Thee, We can plant, but we have to depend on Thy sunshine and Thy rain for the harvest. We can do acts of kindness and tenderness and love for each other, but we need the inspiration of the higher and better things to help us as men and women to live above the ordinary daily cares and grind of life. And so will Thou bless us on this bright morning in our work, in our duties, in our responsibilities. We ask in Thy name, Amen.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 82, entitled:

An Act to amend section six of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 1055), entitled "An act authorizing the release on probation of certain convicts instead of imposing sentences the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and expenses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries" as amended by eliminating therefrom the fixed minimum sentence.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill proposes to repeal that law which is commonly known as the Ludlow Act. I have no brief for the Ludlow Act, but it so happened that during the last session of Legislature a commission was appointed to study the question of parole. It was my honor to be a member of that commission and among its work it is considering the provisions of this measure. It so happens that tomorrow afternoon in Philadelphia, the commission will meet to prepare preliminarily, its report to this Legislature. I rise now to ask my friend, the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson, whether under these circumstances he will place this bill on the postponed calendar, pending the consideration of it at the meeting of the parole commission tomorrow.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 82 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 14, entitled:

An Act to provide for two additional law judges of the court of common pleas of the Thirty-second Judicial District.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am inclined to vote against this bill for two reasons. I find in looking over a record here showing the judges in the different counties that Delaware County has 173,000 population and asks for four judges, that is two in this case and they have two now. Westmoreland County with a population of 273,000 has now three judges and does not ask for any more. It occurs to me that we ought not to be unfair in the distribution of judges. The distribution is rather inequitable. In some counties we have a small population without a judge.

Another matter that I want to bring to your attention is that I understand there are two bills for this county, one asking for one judge and one asking for two. The intention is that if both these bills pass they will pass it up to the Governor to decide whether he will give Delaware County two judges or one judge. Now, it occurs to me that this bill should not pass any how and I for one will vote against it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, partly in answer to my friend and partly in explanation to this House as to why Delaware County is asking for two judges, the comparison has been made between Delaware County and Westmoreland County. I believe it is true that at the last census they were practically the same. However, by reason of the great growth of Delaware County during the last five or six years we are positive that if a census were taken we would have over 225,000 people in Delaware County. The growth from Philadelphia into Upper Darby Township, Haverford Township and Radnor Township has exceeded anything else that was ever known I think during that period since the last census was taken. Now, comparing Westmoreland, it is true they have three judges in Westmoreland County. One of those judges we have in Delaware county most of the time, Judge Copeland of Westmoreland County, and we are glad to have him down there because he is a good judge. He is sitting down in Delaware County this week. We also have Judge Shull sitting this week in Delaware County. In fact, we have two additional judges practically all the time in Delaware County besides the two men we have there. This condition has existed for a long time, and we are hardly ever without one judge from another county in addition to the two we have there. Now, anyone who has practiced at the bar knows how unsatisfactory this is, not that we are not getting good judges, understand, because my experience has been that the men who have been sent to Delaware County have been excellent judges, all of them, without any exception. You can recognize however the fact that they come this week, they are sent by the Supreme Court this week, and they try cases this week. Perhaps those judges won't get back to the county for a month. We have other judges in the meantime from other counties, it does not come their turn to be sent back there for a month, maybe for a longer period. When they do come back they have so much other business to attend to that they can not attend to motions for new trials and they are delayed. I have at the present time on the calendar in Delaware County an equity case which was tried in November 1925, which involves over a half million dollars. It has not been finished to this present time; it is still pending. Now, that is only one of the many cases just like it.

You see Delaware County is located differently than any other county in the state, while it is small in area it is great in population. We are right next to the City of Philadelphia and we are getting the growth from that city. Then we are located on the railroad between the south and Philadelphia and New York, and we catch quite a lot of that growth or transient trade, you might call it, that is coming up from the south. We are on the Delaware River, and Chester is a great industrial center, and therefore by reason of the great industrial growth of the City of Chester it is giving us a great deal of work. To give you some little idea the Bar Association has made a report as to the growth of the business and they have found that on the Appearance Docket, which is the docket in which all cases are brought, in 1908 there was 1438 cases filed; in 1925 for the four terms there were 8841 cases filed; from 1430 to 8841. In 1908 we had our additional law judge which gave us two judges, and at that time as I say there were 1430 cases, and in 1925 there were 8841 cases. In 1926 for three terms there were 7465 cases. Now, the Common Pleas list, the cases that are on the trial list have increased from 1915, 325 cases to 1926, 838 cases. In addition to that we have our naturalization court that averages, each court, twice a year about one hundred fifty applicants. We have in addition our Juvenile Court, which sits about once a month. We have in addition to that our equity trial list, our argument list, our common pleas argument list and our criminal argument list. I have with me the court calendar which shows that we have continuous court in Delaware County from the third Monday of September until the first Monday of July; I say continuous court during that time. The judges are sitting almost continuously. We must remember, ladies and gentlemen, those of you who are not members of the bar that there are other things for the judges to do besides trying cases. The great and important thing for them to do after a case has been tried, motions have been made for new trials perhaps, or argument cases, where arguments have been made he has to carefully consider those cases in order that proper justice may be carried out. That takes time. A judge should have at least one week in the office in every four or five so that he can write up his opinions and decide the cases that have been before him. In the courts of Delaware County at the present time if you will go into any one of the judges' office, and they are both hard working judges, in fact they are working at the present time Sundays and nights, there is not a Sunday that Judge Fronefield is not in his office, and he is in his office from nine o'clock in the morning until two in the afternoon, and there is not a night that he is not working in the office. That is too much work for any three judges to do. As I say, the idea of the bar association is that there should be three judges sitting continuously and there is enough work there to keep them sitting continuously. One judge should have one week in every four or five at last to write opinions and decide cases that have already been tried so that the proper decisions can be made and so that proper justice can be carried out. Now, on the trial list, I have the galley sheet, at the present time for the next list it shows four hundred twenty-four cases. On the September trial list there were three hundred three cases. I am referring now to the Common Pleas list. On the December trial list in the Court of Quarter Sessions which is the criminal list there were one hundred thirty-four cases, in the December term. On the December trial list there were two hundred sixty-one cases. Now that covers a period of about four weeks. Figuring two hundred sixty-one cases, remember we have four terms a year, our terms commence on the third Monday of September, that is the September term, the December term commences on the first Monday of December, the March term the first Monday of March, and the June term the first Monday of June, there are four weeks of civil cases, now, divide two hundred sixty-one cases by four weeks and you have over sixty cases a week. No four judges can try sixty cases a week, and anybody knows that. You hear more than anything else complaints against the courts concerning the delay in the trial of cases both in criminal and civil suits. There is good cause, as everybody has spoken of that, and Chief Justice Taft of the Supreme Court of the United States said not long ago that there was no greater evil in this country today than the delay in the trial of cases, but if we don't have sufficient judges to try those cases what are we going to do, it is impossible for them to try any more. As I say at the present time we are having four judges in Delaware County almost continuously, but the fact that they are not able to be there at the time when they should be, cases are delayed from time to time as I have already indicated in citing the one case at the present time, which has been delayed since November 1925, involving as I say over half a million dollars. You can see the injustice that is done to the litigants in this case. I hope that this House therefore will vote aye on this bill.

Mr. DeFREHN. Mr. Speaker, two years ago I was urged to present a bill asking for an additional common pleas judge in Cambria County. This urge did not come from the overworked judges of the county, in fact they said they did not need an additional judge. Cambria County has a population approximately equal to the increased population in Delaware County, as just reported. We have but two Common Pleas judges. There has not ever been any appeal made this year for increase in our bar in the number of judges. I refused to introduce this bill because it was not considered necessary by the judges and because I did not want to impose an additional tax burden on the state, light as it might be. But now as the gentleman from Delaware claims that their county has been growing so rapidly in population, if he can show me that because this growth has been of the criminal class that these two judges are needed I will be willing to vote for them, otherwise I can only vote for one judge.

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I understand Westmoreland County has a population of two hundred and seventy-three thousand and it occurs to me if one of their judges can be sent to another county they only need two judges in that county, they do not need three judges. There is the county of Montgomery with a population of one hundred and ninety-nine thousand with only two judges, and I could go on through this list here and show that counties, with a greater population than Delaware county have only two judges, and sometimes only one judge.

The principal reason for my opposing this bill is I do not want to see us pass the buck to the Governor. I learned that the two bills would go before the Governor and if he passed the bill with one judge, that would be satisfactory to Delaware County. Now if we continue to increase the judges over this State and increase the salaries, I don't know where we are going to end, so I think it is about time we are giving some attention to our attorneys here. They are all after more judges and for increase of salaries for the judges, and I think it is about time something is started,—and maybe I have started it, I don't know.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker. The gentleman, who has just spoken, of course, we understand, is not a lawyer. When you commence to compare numbers in one county with the population of another, the population in one county and the population in another, that is not a proper comparison. We have more industries in the city of Chester alone, than they have in all of Westmoreland County. Let us see how many cases they have in court, let us see what its court work was. Compare the court work in Westmoreland County with the court work in Delaware County and we will get a comparison worthwhile. Comparison of figures means nothing, if you do not have industries and things that cause litigation. As I say compare the court calendar in Westmoreland with the court calendar in Delaware Count, and we have five times more work than they have in Westmoreland County. There is no question about that.

As far as the gentleman from Cambria is concerned, he said something about our population being of the criminal class. We are glad to say that our increase is not of the criminal class but of the industrial class, men who come there to work and bring industries there. We have some of the greatest industries in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the present time. Take into consideration that during the war a great majority of the war material was manufactured in the city of Chester and along that river front. Come down to our river front and ex-Mayor Ramsey and myself will take you down and show you the vast industries upon it. We have the Ford plant at the present time being built there. There is no county in the state of Pennsylvania that has increased, not only in population, but in industry, one-third the extent Delaware County has in the last five or six years. We are differently located than Westmoreland and some of these other counties. I am not belittling Westmoreland in any way. I say the comparison is not the people that live in a county but the amount of work, and industry and litigation arising from the industry. Of course, we all know the more industrial business there is in a county, the more litigation you are bound to have, and that is the way it is with Delaware County. I assure you if I was not positive that Delaware County at the present time must have and needs two extra judges I would be the last man to stand on this floor and ask for them.

Mr. McCORMICK. Mr. Speaker. The gentleman from Delaware must be corrected. He should come out to Westmoreland county and see what we have out there. He should not belittle us in this way. In the first place if they need additional law judges in Delaware county they should have them. We have a larger county with about three hundred thousand population and many industries. If we send a judge down to Delaware county to help them, and he does his own work before he leaves home.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Session 1927 — 127th of the General Assembly

VOL. 10. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1927 NO. 8

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, February 2, 1927.

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, help us all this morning to realize that we are Thy children; that however far we may have personally strayed from our Father's house, that nothing that we can do, nothing that we can be, can lead us so far away beyond his love, and his care that He does not seek us. May each one of us, as those who help to make the laws of this great Commonwealth, realize that laws are not superior to love; that what we need more than we need laws is more kindliness, more love, more sympathy, more brotherliness; that this great sorrowing world today is more in need of heart than it is of force. Be today in all of the homes to which these members go, and wherever there is sadness and wherever there is sorrow and wherever there is pain may Thy great heart of love go out in sympathy and in power to those who are bowed down. Be with us and bless us in this brief session this morning. Guide and direct the Speaker and all of us so that we all may do the things which will reveal that we are men and women, brothers and sisters of a common humanity. We ask in Thy name. Amen.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Daix, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I would like to know when the Committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations held a meeting. I was not aware of the fact, nor had I been informed of any meeting.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I reported those bills out of the Committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations on request of the chairman, who had consulted a majority of the members of the committee.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I will answer the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, only by stating that I received no notice of any meeting.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I am in the same position as Senator Daix. I was not aware of any committee meeting being called, nor was I consulted in any way.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, as chairman of the committee I just want to search myself for a minute. I canvassed a majority of the committee and continued the canvass until the time the session was called. I made the statement to every member of the committee that the bills were to be reported out for the purpose of first reading, as per the usual rule, to-night, and the second reading at tomorrow morning's session, after which it would be reported back to the tee, to be kept there until a full public hearing w l—as asked for on all three bills.

Mr. DA President, in answer to the Senator from Allegh r. Leslie, I would be perfectly willing to extend any courtesy; but I didn't know that any bills were to be reported out, nor of any meeting; nor was I consulted.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Daix, I will have to admit that I was unable to see all the members of the commitee; but I will read from the list of members of the committee the names of those to whom I spoke, and who agreed to the reporting out of the bills,—and before I begin to read these names I will state that I called to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, when I was talking to the Senator from Lycoming, Mr. Sones, and to the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Huffman. He did not hear me, and when I turned around to see him he was out of his seat in the chamber; and I had not spoken to him.

There was no intention to omit anyone. I spoke to Senator Baldwin, Senator Homsher, Senator Culbertson, Senator Weingartner, Senator Joyce, Senator Davis, Senator Bonbrake, Senator Steele, Senator Freeman, Senator Fay, Senator Pfischner, Senator Sones, Senator Huffman, Senator Baumer and Senator Salus, a great majority, of the members of the committee.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, the names as stated may be absolutely correct. I repeat again, I was not consulted, nor did I know anything of the meeting.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I say, there was no meeting; and there was no intent or purpose of ignoring the senators. The purpose was to report the bills from committee, get them on the calendar, and send them back to committee for a hearing on each one of the three bills.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, undoubtedly by that time the bills would have reached second reading; and I was very much interested in one of the bills before it would be reported out of committee.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, if it is the choice of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Daix, I will agree to send the bills back to committee after first reading.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie.

Give unto us as members of this Legislature of this State broad vision. Keep us from narrow-mindedness, selfishness and littleness and help us to live up to our ideals. Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, When this bill came up a week ago I was asked by my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr Sterling, to have it go over for a week that he might ascertain the position of the Commission which is preparing the parole laws. I consented to that continuance. I have now no objection, Mr. Speaker, to a public hearing, but I wish to say to this House that there are several bills of this character in the House, and in the various committees. My bill is now on third rading, and was last week on third reading. I am perfectly willing now to make a motion that this bill be referred back to the Committee on Judiciary Special for a hearing, but I think I should have the understanding that when the hearing has been held and the Judiciary Special Committee reports the bill out, that it should be acted upon by the House, and I should not be prejudiced by having had it sent back for a hearing.

Mr. Speaker, I move now to recommit this bill to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of a hearing.

Bless today those who are afflicted, as we are not; be with all those in the asylums of this state, with the sick and with the sorrowing and with the suffering; and with those today who are in pain and in agony; and especially do we beseech Thee as the infinite Father of all men to abide today in the homes of the members of this House where there is sickness, where there is sorrow, and especially be Thou with the little children in our homes who today may be sick. Grant that they may have the grace and the strength given unto them by physicians and friends to bring them back to health and strength. Be with us now as we serve Thee this day in this House, with the Speaker and the members and with all of us. We ask in Thy name. Amen.

Amend resolution, by inserting after the second "Whereas" clause the following:

Whereas, It is generally understood that the attempt to pass said bill has been abandoned and that there has been introduced in place thereof a substitute measure intended to raise the salaries of the various judges of the State, which is known as House Bill number four hundred and thirty-four, and

Whereas, It is necessary that the Members of the Legislature be advised of the amount of money necessary to be appropriated by the State for the payment of the increase contained in said House Bill number four hundred and thirty-four, therefore be it

Amend resolution, by striking out the "Resolved clause" and inserting the following:

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) in order that the Legislature may be fully advised as to be effect of the provisions of said House Bill, number four hundred and thirty-four, the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby requested to furnish to the Legislature the following information:

(a) The number of judges in the several judicial districts as classified by said bill.

(b) The present salaries of the said judges, by classes of districts as fixed by said bill.

(c) The total amount paid in salaries to judges under laws now in force.

(d) The salaries of the said judges by classes of districts as fixed by said bill based on the salaries set forth in said bill.

(e) The total amount payable in salaries to judges under the proposed bill.

(f) The increase in dollars by classes of districts in salaries as proposed in said bill over present salaries, and

(g) The per centage of such increase by classes of districts.

Amend resolution, by striking out all after the "Resolved clause."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purpose of these amendments is to bring the resolution in line with the new bill. You all recall last Monday evening Mr. Marcus, in speaking on the judges' salary bill, said that it was the intention to withdraw the first bill and present a new one. That has been done. I have consulted Mr. Marcus and Mr. Mansfield and they are in accord with this amendment which merely asks for the information on the new bill that was asked for on the old bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baldrige.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baldrige, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDRIGE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, apparently it is in the minds of a number of us to amend that bill. Would you be willing to let your resolution lie over until the amendments are inserted in the bill?

Mr. BALDRIDGE. Yes. I don't think there will be any difference, I don't think the amendment will change the——

Mr. SOWERS. Figures? Yes.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I will consent to let it lie over.

RESOLUTION POSTPONED.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this resolution together with the amendments be postponed until Monday night, February 21st, 1927.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 147, entitled:

An Act fixing the salaries of real estate assessors in counties of the first class

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to make a little explanation in connection with this bill that is now before you for your consideration. It is strictly a Philadelphia bill applying only to the City and County of Philadelphia. It affects eighty men in our city who are known as real estate assessors. These hold a sort of semi-quasi judicial position in our county due to the fact that they are appointed by the Board of Revision of Taxes, which is in turn appointed by our Judges of the Court of Common Pleas. These men are all experts in their line, and there is not one of them who could not by the stroke of a pen earn ten times more than he receives under this bill. They are a hard working set of men. I am personally acquainted with their working hours, and I have seen them working on holidays, and Saturday afternoons. To show you what they produce for the County of Philadelphia, they have produced an increase in the assessment for the coming year of $134,459,560.00 on real estate alone. The County of Philadelphia derives its revenue from the assessments that these men levy, that is $17.50 a thousand, plus school taxes. In connection with that they have raised for the coming year, through the authority given them under a bill that was passed in the 1923 Session on personal taxation a sum of $96,101,039.24, on which the City of Philadelphia collects $4.00 per thousand. So you see these men do work that will produce more than a thousand times what they are going to receive. The president of council only last week got up on the floor and said that he knew of no more meritorious piece of legislation in this House than this bill, and that these men are entitled to any increase in salary that they can get. There was recently an editorial on this bill in that great Democratic paper, the Philadelphia Record, in favor of this bill and I think that is sufficient reason for unanimous vote on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, February 9, 1927.

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou art not only the author and creator of all things, but Thou art the guide and the governor of all things. We pray Thee that we may be able to see the handwriting of God in history, and that we may also be able to see the handwriting of God in the history of our own lives. Keep us by Thy power in peace, so that amid the conflicts and struggles and disappointments of life we may rest as men and women unshaken. Help us to meet life's disappointments and battles as men and women, and not as dumb driven cattle. Help us this morning, each one of us, whatever may be the condition of our lives, to see how many things we have to be thankful for; and whenever we become discouraged, let us look and see about us others who are just as good as we are and just as worthy as we are who are carrying burdens and bearing sorrows that we ourselves are not called upon to bear. Be with this House today; be with every one who is here, guide us by Thy providence in Thy love. Amen.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1927 — 127th of the General Assembly

Vol. 10. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1927 No. 12

SENATE.

MONDAY, February 14, 1927.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Arthur H. James) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. W. Hall, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for Thy providential care over us since we last met; and, on the threshhold of this evening's session we pause a moment to honor the memory of one of the greatest men that have been born in the last four hundred years. We remember him as the Hebrews remember Moses, for he was our deliverer,—with a faith like Abraham's a leadership like Moses', courageous as Lenoides, with a leadership like Moses', courageous as Leonides, with a statesmanship like Pericles', and a patriotism like Washington's,—illustrious, immortal Abraham Lincoln, the man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, he was dropped into those troublesome times that he might adorn and ennoble all that was good, and all that was great in our humanity, and to represent for all time to come the divine idea of a free government

We come to-night to honor his memory, as the day of his birth is past and gone; and we are grateful to-night for Thy providential care over us in this hour, that we might join our devotions and prayers to this end.

We thank Thee, our Father, for all the goodness Thou hast bestowed upon us. May Thy blessing rest upon this session of this Legislature, and on the Governor of our State, and on the presiding officer of this body.

May the unselfish spirit of this man and the inspiration of his genius rest upon us as the white-winged dove rested on another great Leader on the banks of the Jordan. Lead us by Thine unerring hand that we may be like him courteous, charitable in our judgments. And in all these things accept our praise; and Thou shalt have the glory forever. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

Almighty God, as this Legislature meets for the sessions of this week, grant that its members may be inspired by the heroic life of the great President whose birthday we have celebrated as a nation since last we met here. May the memory of Lincoln, his patriotism, his devotion to duty, his self-sacrifice, inspire all of us. May we realize what a rich inheritance we have in such men in our nation's history and we pray Thee that we may seek it whatever sphere of citizenship or official life that we may be serving this commonwealth and this nation and Thee, that the ideals of Lincoln and Washington may inspire us as American citizens and as Pennsylvanians. Be with this House tonight; bless the Speaker and all of the members; guide us all in the sessions of this week and be with our loved ones at home, watching over them and keeping them while we are away. REPORT OF RULES COMMITTEE MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House about two weeks ago there was left on each and every member's desk the pamphlet showing the change in the Rules of the House. In view of the fact that an opportunity was given to each and every one to digest what was in that pamphlet, I therefore move you, Mr. Speaker, that the adoption of the Rules or the modification of the Rules be made a Special Order of Business for the House tomorrow morning at 11.15 o'clock.

Mr. WETTACH, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION.

RELATIVE TO RETIREMENT OF EMERGENCY OFFICERS.

Mr. EARLEY, offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1927.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does respectfully request Congress of the United States to adopt legislation which will provide for retirement privileges for disabled emergency officers of the army under the same conditions now provided by law for officers of the regular army in so far as regards physical disability in line of duty.

Resolved, that the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a copy of this resolution to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States and a copy to each Member and Senator from Pennsylvania in Congress of the United States.

RESOLUTION.

RELATIVE TO LAND GRANTS FOR ROAD PURPOSES.

Mr. F. N. MOORE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe we are all in favor of good roads. We all want a thousand miles more placed in the road bill.

In order to help that along I wish to present to this House the proposition that the lands of Pennsylvania when they were deeded by William Penn and by his heirs and by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania after it having purchased the residue from the Penn heirs, there was included in all warrants six per cent. additional for road purposes, and up to the present time so far as I can find out, there has been no patent issued either as a province or as a state but what has carried with its six per cent. additional land for road purposes. The freeholders in the year 1700 passed an ordinance that four per cent. additional lands should be added for surveyors' mistakes, also that the surveyors at their discretion might add six per cent. additional for waste lands so that every warrant in the State is carrying six per cent. for roads and a majority of them four per cent. for surveyors mistakes and six per cent. for barren lands. Since the State has gone into the business of building roads we are called upon to pay enormous bills, real, alleged or otherwise, damages for lands which the State takes in building roads when six per cent. of every man's farm belongs to the Comomnwealth of Pennsylvania for road purposes and to ease this difficulty we believe it is worth while to know what the records of Pennsylvania are and what the Supreme Court decisions bearing on this case have to say about them. At the present time I have been unable to find any line of thought which has conveyed the six per cent. of land for road purposes to anybody and the title is still vested in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. For the purpose of getting this before the public and knowing more authentically about it, I offer the folowing resolution:

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1927.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) that the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to appoint three Members of the House of Representatives, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate is authorized to appoint two Members of the Senate who shall constitute a committee to study the question of the damages payable by counties for the relocation, widening and changing of the routes of State highways, and county and township roads, and to ascertain whether the reservation of a percentage for roads in the patents issued by the Commonwealth is still in force and available as a defense for damages for lands actually taken by the State. This committee constituted by this resolution shall make a report to the Legislature not later than April fourth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven.

The SPEAKER. This resolution will lie over for printing, under the rules.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 515 File Folio 193 at the bottom of page 5 of today's calendar, entitled:

An Act concerning boroughs and revising, amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for the purposes of amendment.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 553 file folio 507 on page 7 of today's calendar, entitled:

An Act relative to the establishment and jurisdiction of magistrates' courts in Philadelphia be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purposes of amendment.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 278, file folio 145 on page 1 of today's calendar, entitled

An Act to amend section two of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one hundred and fifty-nine), entitled, "An act authorizing certain corporations to issue preferred or common stock of one or more classes providing for the manner of issuance restrictions and regulations in the manner of voting thereof and the rights and privileges of the holders thereof, validating certain acts of corporations not participated in by the holders of non-voting stock and repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent therewith."

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HAGMAIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 270, file folio 531, on page 7 of today's calendar, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Article fifteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Reform for the purpose of a public hearing.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker. I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, on this motion which has just now been made, with reference to recommitting House Bill No. 270 to the Committee on Constitutional Reform, I would ask the members to vote the motion down. I told the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Hagmaier, when he requested that this bill be recommitted to the committee, that it would have a hearing in the Senate, if it was so successful as to pass the House, and I asked him to cooperate with me in that direction under the circumstances I would ask the members of the House not to allow this bill to be recommitted. The motion to recommit was not made in good faith, but the purpose is for delay, and in view of the fact that I have given my word that this bill would receive a hearing in the Senate, I would ask the members of the House to vote this motion down.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker, I am glad my colleague from Allegheny gives his reasons for opposing this motion. I assure the members of this House that it was not for delay that this motion was made. We only ask that the House be fair. We do not want the Senate to do the work of the House. We believe that since the bill was introduced in the House, that the House is the place for the hearing. We do not want the Senate to do our work and when I seconded the motion I did it in good faith. I asked Mr. Marcus if we could have a hearing on that bill and he said that the hearing would be in the Senate. The bill was introduced in the House and the hearing should be in the House, and I ask the Members of the House to vote for this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Howe and Mr. Hagmaier.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the roll be verified.

The roll was verified as follows:

REASONS FOR CALLING UP BILL.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, it is my desire to finish the postponed calendar, but I understand the next bill is not understood by some of the members. I just want to assure them that these bills are all sponsored by the Civil Law Committee of the State Bar Association. The work was done by the Legislative Reference Bureau and I have this letter from Mr. Fertig, whom we all know, and he says among other things:

"These repeals have been carefully checked in the Legislative Reference Bureau, and we wish to assure you, that the acts in question can be safely repealed. The enactment of these bills can do no harm, but will furnish a basis for a movement which if carried over for a period of years will aid materially to clarify the statute laws of the Commonwealth."

Besides this, I had a letter from Mr. Edmonds, whom we all know, and whose learning and knowledge we admire, a member of the State Committee, and he says among other things: "The Pennsylvania Bar Association is desirous to have obsolete statutes repealed so that they may no longer clutter the statute books."

If the members still wish to investigate the next bill I will keep it on the calendar, if not, I will call it up.

The SPEAKER. There seems to be no such desire on the part of the members.

REASONS FOR REPEAL.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that Mr. Whitehouse be granted permission to spread on the Journal the reasons for the repeal of the various acts that have been passed from time to time tonight.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, the exposition giving the reasons for the repeal of the various bills, these being the first of the series of seventy-five which will be presented the year 1881 will be handled by Mr. Staudenmeier, 1883 by Mr. Hall, and 1885 by Mr. Sowers, has been prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau, and I suppose it is this paper that Mr. Sowers wishes to put upon the record. Is that correct?

Mr. SOWERS. Yes.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. In accordance with the motion, the reasons for repeal of the acts mentioned, as presented by Mr. Whitehouse, will be spread upon the Journal.

1879, February 12, P. L. 3 (CITIES.)

This act provides for the election of councilmen in cities of the fifth class not divided into wards. There are no cities of fifth class. The act establishing such cities was declared unconstitutional in "Ayar's Appeal," 122 Pa. 266.

1878, May 22, P. L. 87, No. 110 (CITIES.)

This act fixes and regulates the terms of certain officers in cities of the fourth class. The act establishing cities of the fourth class was held unconstitutional in "Ayar's Appeal," 122 Pa. 266.

1878, May 24, P. L. 130. (WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.)

This act defines the duties of the sealer of weights and measures. This office was abolished by the Act of March 8, 1883, P. L. 6.

1879, May 19, P. L. 65 (CITIES.)

This is an act relating to cities of the fifth class. The act under which such cities were created was held unconstitutional in "Ayar's Appeal," 122 Pa. 266. This act is therefore most likely also unconstitutional, and has nothing upon which to operate.

1879, May 22, P. L. 67 (CITIES.)

This act fixes the assessment and collection of taxes in cities of the fifth class. The act creating this class of cities was declared unconstitutional in "Ayar's Appeal," 122 Pa. 266. The act has, therefore, nothing upon which to operate.

1879, May 13, P. L. 56 (CITIES.)

This act amends Section 19 of the Act of May 23, 1874, P. L. 230, and relates to the members of councils of the cities of the first class. It is supplied by the Act of May 23, 1889, P. L. 277.

1879, June 12, P. L. 174 (CITIES.)

This is an act providing for the holding of courts in certain cities of the fifth class. The act was held to be a special legislation and unconstitutional in "Scowden's Appeal," 96 Pa. 422. The act providing for the cities of the fifth class was declared unconstitutional in "Ayar's Appeal," 122 Pa. 266. There are no such cities, in existence, and the act, therefore, has nothing upon which to operate.

1879, May 13, P. L. 59 (CITIES OF SECOND CLASS.)

This act provides for the meetings of councils in cities of the second class. It is supplied by the Act of June 14, 1887, P. L. 395. This act is not cited in the Digests.

Our Heavenly Father, we are very thankful to Thee this morning that we are permitted to meet here in this session. Thou hast been good to us and Thou art not far from any one of us. We thank Thee for the friendship of Thy presence. Somehow or other we feel better when Thou art near us. Thou hast guided us all along the years of our lives and we are here the living moments of Thy tender mercies. We thank Thee for the many mercies that have followed us these days, and we pray that Thy blessing may rest upon these Senators as they meet here to discuss the great questions of State. May they live in health and may the love of God be upon them. We pray Thy blessing to rest on their families at home and their business. They have sacrificed something to be here. O Lord, if there is anything that they need, any help that they need, or any comfort in their home life, we pray Thy blessing to rest upon them and upon those that are not here with them.

Be with us this morning. Bless the Governor of the State and the presiding officers of this body and the President of the United States and all his official family and everybody for whom we should pray. We ask in Thy great name and Thou shalt have the praise now and forever. Amen.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 65, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission to provide for the construction erection and dedication in the city of Chester of a monument to the memory of John Morton and making an appropriation

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, We have just passed the celebration of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, and will soon come to the celebration of the birthday of George Washington. John Morton, I understand was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. I would be very glad if the Senate would be willing to give and the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, would be willing to take a little time to tell us something about John Morton.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President and members of the Senate, we have heard so much about John Morton that I trust what I have to say will not tire you at all. I am rather surprised that the Senator from Dauphin County, Mr. Earnest, should have asked the Senators from Delaware to make any extended remarks at all as to John Morton. I know it wasn't because he thought you were not fully informed about this great man; but as the spirit of patriotism seems to pervade this chamber, and as we want to know all we can about our historical figures—especially those having borne a part in the Revolutionary War—I will endeavor to tell you something about John Morton.

John Morton, as I have said, was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The Pennsylvania delegation comprised seven members. Two were absent, and among the remaining five members, including John Morton, there was a division among four of them as to whether they should sign the Declaration of Independence or withhold their signatures; and it was then that John Morton, who then lived in Leiperville, in the County of Delaware—then a part of Chester County—said he would sign the Declaration of Independence; and the men who had been hesitating about signing then cast their votes for the Declaration of Independence.

When John Morton signed the Declaration of Independence it seems, according to history and an inscription upon the marker over his grave in the City of Chester, where he lies buried, that his neighbors took very great umbrage at his action, and those who were sympathetic with the British Government at that time, commonly called Tories, made his life very miserable indeed; and socially he was ostracized.

So much did he feel the ostracism, thus unfairly visited upon him, that in his dying request he asked that an inscription be placed upon his marker that he had no retraction to make as far as he was concerned in the judgment he had formed; that he had signed the Declaration of Independence believing that these Colonies should be free, and that he wished he might live to see the day when those who had criticised him would approve of his action.

That inscription is on the marker over the grave where he lies in the City of Chester, but it is only an apology for a marker; it is in the tenderloin district in the City of Chester, and his grave is practically abandoned. If you should go there by chance, when visiting the City of Chester, and would ask to see where John Morton is buried, you would be very regretful indeed that what you have visualized before would be practically destroyed. You would be sorry you ever visited the spot; because, in my judgment, it is disgraceful to so neglect a man who played such an important part in the Revolutionary days. When we are now honoring the memory of all our great statesmen, it is a disgrace that that poor apology for a marker is over his grave, and that it should be in a place where you can see the markers on other graves—of those buried many, many years ago—fallen on the ground, some of the old-time vaults fallen in, with cans and the debris of that district spread all over this little yard.

We are asking for the sum of $10,000 from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a contribution for a monument, with the thought that the people of this Commonwealth will contribute $15,000, to make it $25,000,—in other words, $15,000 by popular subscription to meet the $10,000 from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in order to erect over his grave a decent monument.

And the project is under way to remove those ashes to a more suitable part of the City of Chester, possibly to deposit those remains in Deshong Park, a very beautiful park in our city and also the home of the Emergency Aid and the Red Cross Society, where we all congregate in the performance of those civic duties that we feel we should discharge toward humanity—for the relief of the poor and distressed. There they would be alongside of the remains of the first American boy who died in the World War, Sergeant Alfred Stevenson, who has a marker to his memory; and alongside of that monument we want to put a marker to John Morton, this signer of the Declaration of Independence.

It is said that this appropriation ought to be increased. This bill was before the Legislature in 1925, and passed; but for some unexplained reason the Governor of the Commonwealth vetoed the bill,—the then Governor Pinchot.

This movement is endorsed by all the patriotic organizations of the country. It is endorsed by the American Legion, by all the patriotic organizations, all the civic bodies; it is a matter of unanimity. They had a meeting a year or so ago at which there were delegates of all the Colonial Societies as well as the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution. There is pratical unanimity that there should be a suitable monument erected over the grave of John Morton; and I feel it is the duty of this Commonwealth to make this small contribution. And we the people of Pennsylvania will match it with the sum of $15,000 if this bill is signed by the Governor.

Shall the bill pass finally?
